BANK MEN HOLD LIBERTY BOND CONFERENCE

Every bank in Lowell was represented at a conference held this morning at the rooms of the Morris Plan Co. in Shattuck street in connection with the Liberty bond campaign. The conference was called so that the banks might understand fully the general policy to be followed in the campaign, and N. G. Nickerson, Jr., representing the Federal Reserve bank of Boston, was present to enlighten the gathering on intricate points of the national loan. Several rulings in connection with the bonds which have been handed down by the national committee were explained by him.

It was voted that all the local banks should report daily to the Morris Plan Co. the amount of subscriptions they had obtained during the day and that the report to Boston should be made from this company.

The campaign is progressing favorably in Lowell. Up until last night the total amount reported was $428,900. Of this $200,500 came in yesterday. The Union National bank was the largest reported having a total of $175,250 as the result of a day's work. Today the Central Savings bank

Giants and White Sox Meet in Chicago in First Game of Baseball Classic

Early Morning Scenes

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Today is the great day of all the baseball world. This afternoon at 2 o'clock (3 o'clock eastern time) the New York team, champions of the National league, and the Chicago White Sox, champions of the American league, are to meet for the first time in the first game of the world's baseball classic.

All night long a line of two or three hundred persons, including a few women, stood in line at the windows, where at 10 o'clock this morning the 15,000 remaining pavilion and bleacher seats were to be sold. It was cold and most of the night there was a drizzle of rain. Sunrise was delayed somewhere in the fog. Through the long hours a ghastly line stretched its length along the fence of Comiskey park.

Out of the surrounding darkness in increasing numbers as the hands of a distant tower clock wound round the circle, other ghostly figures added to the line.

Huddle Around Small Fires

The reluctant gray of the morning had not appeared when newsboys came shouting on the scene with "all about the world's series" and were relieved of their supplies in short order. A nearby lumber yard served to supply fuel for innumerable small fires over which the fanatics of the game huddled and studied out the stories, taking care, however, not to leave their places in line. Policemen kept order and settled more than one dispute as to position.

Probable Pitchers

The papers, it appeared, were reasonably certain that Cleo would pitch for Chicago and Schupp for New York. Second choice was Faber for the locals and Ferritt for the invaders.

Dawn brought no physical warmth, but it was full of promise, as the rain seemed to have ceased. Spectators rose. New arrivals came now in groups and the lines grew rapidly until they wound out of sight of the

LOWELL RECRUITING STATION'S RECORD

The Lowell navy recruiting station secured 10 per cent of the total naval enlistments in the Boston district for the week ending Oct. 4. This district comprises Boston, Lowell and ten other cities and towns of New England.

Among the recent enlistments at the regular army recruiting office in Central street was that of Harry J. Currier of 107 Adams street, who joined the cavalry. He left for Ft. Slocum this afternoon.

Mr. Otto Hoelckmeyer, chairman of the local committee on British recruiting, and L. E. Plunk, in charge of the recruiting headquarters, paid a visit to Mr. H. N. D. last evening in the interest of recruiting for the British and Canadian forces. Both men spoke at length and while no men were helpfully secured up it is felt they will come to the light later on and report to

STATE CONVENTIONS OF TWO LEADING PARTIES

DEMOCRATS OPEN SESSIONS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The democrats of Massachusetts met in state convention today to ratify the nomination of Frederick W. Alansfield of Boston for governor at the recent primaries and to adopt a platform. Former Governor David I. Walsh has been selected as permanent chairman, District Attorney Joseph Ely of Berkshire county as temporary chairman and former Attorney General Thomas J. Boynton as chairman of the committee on resolutions.

At an all night session of the resolutions committee a platform was drawn up for presentation to the convention in which endorsement of President Wilson's administration had a prominent part and which contained recommendations for much radical state legislation.

The platform as presented by the resolutions committee "unreservedly endorsed in its entirety the national administration of President Wilson, declaring that it had been constructed under more difficult conditions than those that ever confronted any administration in the history of the country."

Devoting special attention to the bills for conscripting aliens, the platform said:

"So far as permitted under treaty obligations we believe that aliens enjoying all the benefits of residence in America should be called upon to bear the same part as citizens in the service of this country, and we heartily endorse the effort of the administration in this direction."

The attempt of the constitutional convention to place before the people questions of divorce, public trading and the initiative and referendum was endorsed. The republican party was charged with failure to enact measures of divorce, public trading and the initiative and referendum. The platform was devoted largely to a program of state reform for which the party had declared itself.

G. O. P. CONVENES AT SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 6.—The adoption of resolutions setting forth the attitude of the party in war was the principal task before the republicans of Massachusetts gathered in state convention today. Gov. Samuel W. McCall, recently nominated at the primaries for a third term, was on hand to deliver an address. Senator John W. Weeks, permanent chairman; Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Lieut. Gov. Calvin Coolidge were the other speakers.

Former Congressman Charles G. Washburn was selected as chairman of the committee on resolution.

Sen. Weeks Speaks

"The course the republican party should follow is clear," said Senator Weeks. "It should support the administration in every action which will result in a vigorous and successful prosecution of the war. It should resist every attempt to change the principles on which our government was founded and especially replacing representative government with one based on secret societies. The one great purpose we all have at heart is to win this war and to that everything else should be subordinated."

Senator Weeks urged the necessity of congressional co-operation in keeping down extravagance in war financing through the appointment of a congressional committee on expenditures.

Gov. McCall said that the war must "give pause to the strife of every American to do is to stand by."

"I take no risk," he continued, "in saying that you are a man in favor of such a prosecution of the war as shall destroy barbaric force and set up the rule of reason among the nations. And I believe me I take no risk in saying that you will put the support of our country in this crisis far above party."

The governor declared that it was of first importance that the affairs of the state should be administered with the utmost economy.

"Let us strive," he said, "to maintain unimpaired the whole energy of our social and industrial life so that the blighting effect of war in the deterioration of institutions and the drying up of the springs of civilization may not be seen."

Lieut. Gov. Coolidge said:

"Our party can maintain its traditional attitude. Our country is at war. We shall support her. There is no question here for party consideration. It is the duty of every citizen to support the president. There is only one issue before the state and nation and that is the attainment of an honorable and lasting peace by the only means within our grasp of vigorous and relentless prosecution of the war."

MEGAPHONE SERVICE DISCONTINUED

The Courier-Citizen and The Sun have agreed to discontinue the megaphone service on the world's series. The service was discontinued today. The news of the game to the bulletin board.

A direct wire from the baseball field both in Chicago and New York will give immediate service to Lowell, so that it will be possible for the local papers to have a baseball edition on the street a few minutes after the game is finished.

FOOTBALL ACTIVITIES AT SPALDING PARK

Ideal weather conditions greeted Lowell's first football game of the 1917 season at Spalding park this afternoon when Lowell high and St. John's Prep. school of Danvers lined up for the initial home contest.

The game had been scheduled originally for yesterday but the inclement weather necessitated a postponement. Real football weather greeted the teams when they came on the field this afternoon, however. The student body of the high school turned out in large numbers and there was a representation from St. John's.

The constant practice of the past week which the local eleven has undergone under the direction of Coach Conway was very noticeable in the snappy way in which the men performed their preliminary practice. A few changes in the line-up gave the team much more strength.

BASEBALL EXTRA

The Sun baseball extra, giving a complete play by play account of today's game between the Chicago White Sox and the New York Giants, will be published immediately after the last man is put out.

SHELL CRATERS FILLED WITH GERMAN BODIES

(By The Associated Press)

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM. Oct. 5.—(Delayed)—The Germans suffered terribly in the British attack of Thursday and a trip along the battlefield east and north-east of Ypres showed hundreds of bodies of German soldiers among the debris. At many places shell craters were filled with dead. Here and there were wounded, sometimes under a pile of corpses which the British stretcher-bearers had not been able to reach.

Along one section of the Australian front a thousand bodies were counted. A little further south there was another lot of 700. Some of these had been prisoners who had been making their way back within the British lines when they were caught in their own barrage and killed. One officer of the Prussian Guards who was captured near Polygon wood, said that British shells did terrible havoc among his men.

A British airplane with an Australian as its pilot had a remarkable experience yesterday. The pilot and observer kept at work despite the clouds and the rain. The German fired many shells at the plane but it continued in action. When the pilot was finally forced to land, he was behind a machine which had been struck so often that it was of no further use. Neither the pilot nor the observer was injured.

Today the pilot was at the airport to go up again. His superior officer, however, thought that he had had enough excitement for the time being and refused permission.

BUSY AT FORGE VILLAGE

The officials of the mills at Forge Village have decided to keep their plants in operation Columbus day. This will be done on account of the large orders on hand and only those desiring to work will do so.

BOSTON BAKERS REPORT INCREASE SALES OF THE DARKER BREADS

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The state food administration has been informed by the principal bakers of this city that their sales of the darker breads have increased from 60 to 70 per cent, since the institution of the white bread act each week. The food officials consider this a definite indication of the successful result of the appeal to the public to save wheat.

INFANT MORTALITY

According to statistics given out by the board of health, the infant mortality in this city during the months of July, August and September decreased somewhat for the present year, in comparison with the same period in 1916. The total deaths for the three months this year was 134, as against 173 for 1916, 143 for 1916 and 147 for 1914. In 1913 the number was 168.

COURT ST. PAUL, C.O.F.

At the last meeting of the members of Court St. Paul, C.O.F., which was held at the C.M.A.C. hall, the following officers were elected: president, Alfred J. Lebel; recording secretary, Ralph H. Lebel; treasurer, Arthur Lavoie; financial secretary, Joseph Theriault; and conductors, Edmund Lambert and Joseph Theriault. Rock L. Pelletier and Louis Gingras, medical examiner, Dr. A. E. Bertrand.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Minnie Meany last evening at the home of Mrs. Frederick Stowell, 125 Concord street. The house was beautifully decorated with plants and palms. The chandeliers were draped with pink and green crepe paper. There was a fine musical program carried out during the evening and a buffet luncheon was served. Miss Meany is a popular young lady of Belvidere and is to become the bride of a popular conductor of the Bay Street Chorus, Mr. S. V. Parker.

BRIDE-TO-BE HONORED

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Kathryn Mahon on Thursday evening at the home of her chum, Miss Higgins. Thinking she was to take part in a farewell reception to one of Uncle Sam's Jackies, Miss Mahon was surprised to find that she was entering the living room she was greeted by a shower of presents falling from a large bell attached to the gas jet. Miss Mahon was the recipient of a handsome gas lamp, gift of a group of girls over whom she is forelady.

MR. MINORCAN HONORED

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn, 834 Central street, in honor of Mr. Joseph J. Minorcan, who left for Camp Devens, Ayer, yesterday morning, to receive military training and a gold watch. There were violin and piano selections by Miss Alice Burns and Miss May Burns. Refreshments were served. Miss Elizabeth Flynn was the accompanist of the evening.

ABRASIONS OF SCALP

BOY SCOUTS IN LIBERTY BOND CAMPAIGN

The principal activity in Lowell Boy Scout circles at the present time is the distribution of Liberty bond campaign literature and posters throughout the city. This morning over a score of scouts were on the streets distributing placards, posters, etc., and before the campaign is over a total of 10,000 circulars will have been distributed by the local scouts. In connection with the Liberty bond campaign and its relation to the Boy Scouts the following clever paraphrase on George Colman's popular "Over There" may be of interest:

OVER HERE
Written for the Boy Scouts of America by Oliver Herford
Johnny get the 'mon', get the 'mon',
Help to down the Hun, down the Hun,
Money talks, let money shout!
Hurry buy a bond, buy a bond, buy a bond,
Help them over yond', over yond', over yond',
Let your gold flow in a stream,
Let them hear the Eagle's scream!

Over here! Give a cheer!
Tell the lads over there not to fear,
That the ranks are swelling, and the
scouts are yelling
And the bonds are selling, over here,
Never fear, never fear,
We are all on the job over here,
Tell the Kaiser he'll be wiser
When he meets the troops we're raising for him here!

Johnny dig the dough, dig the dough,
Let your dollars go, don't be slow, let em go,
Help to give the Teutons fits,
Put the Kaiser on the fritz,
Make the Teutons roar, then some more, then some more!
Help to win the war, win the war,
with the war
Do your bit, the bond to float,
Help to get the Kaiser's goat!

Over here! Give a cheer!
Tell the lads over there not to fear,
That the ranks are swelling, and the
scouts are yelling
And the bonds are selling, over here,
Never fear, never fear,
We are all on the job over here,
Tell the Kaiser he'll be wiser
When he meets the troops we're raising
for him here!

The products of the scout farm in Dracut are being harvested at the present time and a record breaking crop of potatoes has resulted. The potatoes are to be sold at the public market through one of the dealers there.

The scouts are looking forward to next Saturday when the annual rally will be held at Audubon park. An excellent program of sports and scouting exhibitions has been arranged and all that is needed to make the day a success is fair weather.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of James A. Garfield Relief Corps was held Thursday night at the C.M.A.C. hall. The afternoon and a whist party was enjoyed, after which supper was served. Mrs. Elvira Flanders presided at the business session and considerable business was transacted. Six new members were admitted. Plans were made and committees appointed for the bazaar which is to be held on Oct. 27 in room 120 hall, 202 Merrimack street. Committees on work on the Soldiers' Home and the decorating of graves remain for progress. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. James Connell for her kind hospitality to her guests at her home on the day of the outing. The corps was honored with six visitors. After meeting closed with the salute to the flag.

FAREWELL PARTY

A very pleasant farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Moran, of 42 Anderson street, Thursday evening in honor of their son, William, who is leaving for the front on the Maine railroad, who responded to the call to Ayer, Friday.

Mr. Moran was presented a valuable wrist watch, other useful gifts by his fellow employees. The house was artistically decorated with the national colors. Music and refreshments were enjoyed until a late hour, when his friends departed wishing him the best of luck. Those who contributed to the musical program were Miss Mae Conway and Miss Lauretta McKean. Mr. Frank Carner also entertained with songs and recitations.

MR. MARTIN HONORED

Friends of Edward J. Martin, ex-regulator and a member of Friday's quota, gathered at his home, 33 Durant street, Thursday, a long-to-be-remembered evening was spent and a number of gifts showed their esteem for the young man. A lunch was served and the party broke up at a late hour, wishing Mr. Martin God-speed and a safe return.

THIS IS NO SURPRISE—SMOKE ALWAYS RISES UPWARD

The local cigar dealers have been busily engaged during the past few days taking account of stock in compliance with the new revenue bill, which includes in its provisions a tax on all cigars, cigarettes, tobacco and cigars. Manufacturers, importers and dealers will have to pay a tax of 50 per cent on the stock they have on hand over 600 cigars, but new stock purchased will be charged with the full tax. The added tax will mean that the prices of cigars will be boosted.

REGULAR COMMUNION DAY OF BISHOP DELANY ASSEMBLY, KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Everything is in readiness for the regular communion day of the Bishop Delany assembly, Knights of Columbus, tomorrow morning at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church. The members will meet in the K. of C. rooms not later than 7.30 a. m. and will march to the church. The dress for the occasion will be frock coat, gray tie and gloves, stiff hat and baldric without sword. Every member of the order is urged to attend the mass.

LOCAL MACHINISTS TO PARADE AS GRAND FINALE TO RECRUIT- ING CAMPAIGN

A very important meeting of the members of Local 138, Machinists' union, was held last evening at 242 Central street with President John Carroll in the chair. In the course of the meeting 115 applications for membership were received and it was reported that the majority of the local shops had been organized.

It was decided as a grand finale to the recruiting which has been going on in this city for some time that a monster parade be held on a Saturday evening, the date to be set later. It is planned to hold a mass meeting at the close of the parade, the speaker of the evening to be William H. Johnston of Washington. A petition was signed and forwarded to the international headquarters asking that William Johnston have an investigation conducted in relation to the trial of Edward Nolan, Aaron K. Ellings, Thomas J. Mooney and his wife, Kate Mooney, and Israel Weinberg, who were recently sentenced in San Francisco.

MEN WHO WENT TO AYER YESTER- DAY WERE GIVEN GOOD SEND- OFF AT TEWKSBURY

The 69 men who left Tewksbury for Ayer yesterday noon were given a delightful send-off by the residents of the town. The men assembled at the town hall and, headed by Captain Graham of Methuen and a fife and drum corps, they proceeded to the common where they were given their first drill. Later the soldiers repaired to the vestry of the Centre church, where they were served sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee by the ladies of the church. The men were then marched to the railroad station and, while awaiting the train, which was 25 minutes late, the soldiers enjoyed dancing on the platform with their lady friends, music being furnished by the fife and drum corps. Patriotic songs were rendered and when the train rolled in the boys were given the farewell handshake.

WARREN CLUB HELD THE BOARDS AT ASSOCIATE HALL LAST EVENING

The sixth annual dancing party of the Warren club was held last night in Associate hall and the large attendance was an evidence of the popularity of the members of this popular organization. Music for dancing was furnished by Broderick's orchestra, the success of the affair was due to the zealous and untiring work of the following members of the club:

General manager, Frank Finnerty; assistant general manager, Thomas Eager; floor director, John Joyce and Fred Smith; assistant floor directors, John Welch and Hugh Finnerty; chief aid, Franklin Williams; treasurer, Ed. Barrington.

MR. AND MRS. ERNEST L. WHITNEY AGREEABLY SURPRISED LAST EVENING

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Whitney and family of 50 Ware st. were tendered a pleasant surprise last evening when a goodly number of their friends called at their home and a large crowd of well-wishers presented them a parlor stove, a barrel of flour and other valuable articles. Refreshments were served and during the evening an enjoyable entertainment program was given. The presentation was made by Mrs. Whitney's mother, Mrs. E. Simpson, of 301 Merrimack street.

DANCE AT ASSOCIATE HALL

At Associate hall this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, the third of the popular Saturday evening dances which have drawn a large crowd on the two previous occasions will be given. In addition to the dancing, a number of entertaining cabaret features will be introduced. The admission to the dance for ladies is 15 cents; for gentlemen, 25 cents.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 6.—Several persons were killed or wounded yesterday in a battle between troops and railway strikers at Ta'd Viejo.

A demonstration in favor of neutrality which had been arranged for today has been forbidden by the government because there are insufficient forces to maintain order. Agents in favor of severing relations with Germany had threatened to disrupt the demonstration.

Saturday, October 6th, is "Quarter Day" at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Featured on the bill at the B. F. Keith theatre, tomorrow afternoon, is Tom Mahoney, the jovial story teller, who will give a new line of stories. And he can tell them as few others can. Kennedy & Burt will present a timely mélange of comedy and music.

Dean & Thatcher are makers of mirth and melody and Kate & Dase are sure fire entertainers. A new group of pictures will also be presented.

Will Oakland, the famous tenor, with his company, will headline the bill next week, beginning Monday, with the new singing romance called "Danny O'Gill." It is a story of course, largely singing, but it has a neat little story for it tells of an Irish born American who returns to the old country and revivifies the loves, romance and associates of his youth.

"In New York, 1917," is the name of a most unusual skit to be offered by Messrs. Carson and Willard. These two men have struck an original thought and it is that of two boon companions who meet one night in New York of the present time, and who suddenly begin to discuss the New York of the future—30 years hence. And as they discuss it, the transformation takes place. They live 30 years in the future. It is a novel situation, and one which is bound to command much attention.

Maleta Bonconi, the violin virtuoso, who will appear on the bill comes from America from a brilliant record abroad. She formerly played with the Philadelphia orchestra of Berlin and Cologne, and was awarded the Mendelssohn and Joachim prizes for the best playing at the Royal academy. Chas. and Adelaide Wilkins are dancers in a Fred Stone. Mr. Wilkins formerly did the famous scarecrow dance in the famous "The Jinks" story. Chas. and Emily Barry are singers of songs, old and new, and they interpolate comedy, while Seada & Hoot have a continuation of the "The Jinks" story. The picture will be the Goldenrod production, "Fighting Odds," with Maxine Elliott.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC Miss Sarah, that inimitable comedian, still continues to please Lowell audiences, his efforts being rewarded by large attendances, at the Academy of Music, both afternoon and evening. His originality, peculiarities and actions convince the audience with laughter and stamp him as the best entertainer of the hour ever seen in this city. He is surrounded by a company of good comedians, pretty and well-trained chorus, scenery and everything that tends to add attractiveness to musical comedy.

"Lay from Ireland," a farce which produces merriment from the audience, gives every member of the company a splendid opportunity to display individual ability. Sacks, the new arrival at the hotel, is the prime mover in furnishing the comedy. Dave Harris as "Alacran" is there with the goods and finishes them in a manner which provokes much laughter, while Bob Alexander and George Brown portray their parts in the "The Jinks" story.

Clary, who sings in a sweet manner, displays versatility in his part of "Gyp, the Road," where it is necessary to resort to a coarse and husky voice.

Charlie Abate in his still-entertaining song makes a decided hit, his facial expression and actions furnishing a cue for voracious applause. Charlie does not devote his entire time to comedy, however, for he and Frank Du Tell sing songs which are original and beautiful.

Beatrice Miller, Biscay Covey, Ruth Elmore, Alice Wallace and Marie Gray, as well as the Keene Sisters are in the list of artists, when never fail to please. Then there is Ada Morse, whose dancing is well worthy of the applause given.

The chorus, composed of 14 girls

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Featured on the bill at the B. F. Keith theatre, tomorrow afternoon, is Tom Mahoney, the jovial story teller, who will give a new line of stories.

SAMMIES MARCH THROUGH LONDON TO TUNE OF "BOSTON TEA PARTY" AND BRITISH CHEERS.

That this was has wiped from American and British hearts all traces of bitterness of former wars was shown recently when American troops marched across the Horse Guards parade, St. James park, London. Scots pipers and bands of the Brigade of Guards led the way playing "The Boston Tea Party." Tens of thousands of Londoners, who lined the way, cheered with all their might and main. The house in the background was the German embassy before the war, and now is used as a hospital for wounded officers.

aerial armada be a decisive factor in that victory?

To Maj. Gen. W. S. Brancker, Britain's director general of military aeronautics, I put these questions in an exclusive interview for The Sun.

"Falling a decision before bad weather this fall," General Brancker replied, "we not only can win the war in the air, but we shall have to. We have not had enough experience, however, to predict whether that victory can be attained next year.

"Should it be, I doubt whether America's air fleet can play a preponderant part."

There has been much thrilling talk lately of Uncle Sam building 50,000 aeroplanes next spring to invade Germany. Military critics here have been declaring such over-confidence perilous and costly.

The first essential, these critics say, is that Americans realize how tremendous and complex is the building of a great aerial navy.

General Brancker has had to solve that problem. Under his direction Britain in three years has developed the world's finest air organization.

"Talk big," he said, "plan on as vast a scale as you please. But begin work on a small scale, in minute detail, thoroughly.

"In England, when the war broke out, we were forced to send practically our entire air force to France. But America can afford to go slow. She can keep at home her existing air force as a nucleus. Three years behind us at present, perhaps thanks to your energy and organization you can catch up in a year.

"It is not a question only of organization, however. Air fighting today is not dependent on quantity only. Fifty thousand planes would be little better than scrap unless of the finest type. Fifty thousand half-trained men would be of little use. "We are helping you in that respect. From our own service we have sifted out about eight Americans who had joined us as Canadians and are skilled in the requirements of today, both as to pilots and engines at least three times as severe as when the war broke out.

"Your best engine up to now has been little better than an excellent new and untried standardized engine cuts that down to one year. It will still be the fall of 1918 before you can have in France an air fleet sufficient to help in a great aerial offensive, and even that hardly of such overwhelming power as to win the war.

"In the meanwhile you will have thrown divisions into the trenches, and for a time it will take all your aircraft output to furnish them with a sufficient air force for what I call 'domestic duty'—that is, scouting, artillery reconnaissance, etc.

"I do not wish to cast a wet blanket over America's plan for a great aerial assault on Germany. I believe in it fully, and expect it can be realized. I have faith in the possibility of complete victory through an overwhelming air fleet engaged in raiding, bombing, destructive work of the German lines. But, while keeping at white heat your enthusiasm, it is wise to recognize the prodigious labor ahead."

"In the air service," asked General Brancker, "what types of boys are best fitted?"

"A good steeplechase jockey or cross-country rider is the ideal type," he answered, "but, as a matter of fact, practically any young man between the ages of 18 and 25, if alert and physically fit, will qualify. You would be astonished to learn how few failures we have. It takes in all about five or six months to turn out a skilled flying officer. It is a question of thoroughness rather than haste. Don't begin fighting until you are fully prepared."

"We now believe the German machines are losing the race for quality. And the German pilots have never been as good as ours."

SEWER GAS—DOES NOT CARRY GERMS DESPITE COMMON BELIEF

Contrary to common belief sewer gas does not cause disease. Odorous gases are unpleasant and if of a poisonous kind may prove fatal but the danger of their directly causing typhoid fever or any other disease is extremely remote.

Experiments have shown that the air in the streets contains many more germs than the air in public sewers. The conclusion of experimenters is "the chance of direct germ infection through the air of drains or sewers is so slight as to be practically negligible."

The constant inhalation, however, of poisonous non-odorous as well as odorous gases may eventually reduce the vitality so that the usual ability of the healthy body to throw off the disease germs may be weakened.

Such gases may arise from the decomposition of organic matter in the home as a result of lack of cleanliness quite as well as they may originate in a public sewer. Cleanliness about the home, a certain amount of plumbing maintained in a clean condition, and no fear of the open window are factors which favor a strong vitality. Plumbing is the barrier between the individual and sewage wastes. By it, ordinary household sewage is removed from the premises. Thus you are prevented from coming into direct contact with the real dangers or disease germs which lurk in sewage. Germs can be dangerous only when brought by some direct or indirect mode of transmission into actual contact with the individual. Not only plumbing and proper ultimate disposal of the sewage are the important items of sanitation in eliminating the dangers residing in household sewage. Health questions answered—R. D. asks: "Do infected tonsils cause bad breath?" Yes, and many other things which make it far better to have them removed.

OUR AIRPLANE FLEET

With 20,000 airplanes to co-operate with our armies in the spring in an effort to end the war, it is probable that Germany will keep her planes at home to save Berlin. She will get a taste of the warfare she has been inflicting on London in the vain hope of forcing peace.

EXAMINING PHYSICIANS BLAMED

The examining physicians of the exemption boards appear to have come in for serious blame on account of having sent to Camp Devens men in advanced stages of consumption, cripples, epileptics and other invalids. The army surgeons have sent a large number home but so far as we know none have been returned to Lowell.

RAIDER AT LARGE

Another German raider at large in the Southern Pacific! How these raiders get out may be a puzzle to some. They are captured ships rigged and armed by Germans. These raiders may have a base of supply somewhere on this hemisphere. The merchant submarines may carry out the necessary munitions. Still there is not much ground for alarm from this picked-up raider.

TIGHTENING THE EMBARGO

The Allies in Europe are now tightening the embargo against export to border neutrals from which Germany can receive the cargoes shipped to these neutrals. The Export Board of the United States is now co-operating with the Allies against this indirect export of supplies to Germany. It comes mainly from certain South American countries. Hereafter the United States will refuse bunker coal to the vessels engaged in this business unless they submit their cargoes to inspection. That will hamper some of them very considerably and it will increase the necessities of Germany.

THE BRITISH VICTORY

If the weather holds good in Flanders for another month, the British forces will probably dislodge the Germans from their submarine and aviation bases. General Haig has done remarkably great work during the past few months in beating back the Germans and capturing the most commanding positions in a wide salient of the western front. The ridges captured are of the strategic kind that make future victories more easy. These triumphs, however, have not been won without the most desperate fighting attended with heavy losses. The British losses, it is true, have not been nearly so heavy as those of the enemy. General Haig will undoubtedly make the most of his present advanced position, giving the enemy no chance to regain lost ground, and forcing another strategic Hindenburg retreat.

BUY A LIBERTY BOND

The men and the women who are not subject to military service have a duty to perform fully as important as that of the men who are drafted for service on the battlefield. Their duty is to supply the sinews of war—the guns, the munitions, the ships, the airplanes, the food and the clothing necessary for the maintenance of the war. It requires vast amounts of money to provide all these essentials. The government has no money for these purposes except what it gets from the people through taxation and loans authorized by congress. The people of this nation are now called upon for the second Liberty Loan. The sum of $3,000,000,000 is asked from the American people at the very respectable rate of 4 per cent. There should be no hesitation in advancing this amount. The rate of interest is as high as paid by the savings banks and the security is the best in the world. There is no sacrifice here. Rather is it a splendid opportunity to invest money where it will be absolutely safe. Considering the purpose and the imperative necessity, every citizen who has the money and who has a spark of patriotism in his make up will buy a Liberty Bond.

OUR COTTON MILLS

If the cotton mills of Lawrence are able to give an increase in wages at this time, no doubt the operatives of the local cotton mills will begin to inquire "when does our turn come." So far as can be learned, the business in all the cotton mills of this city has been very satisfactory during the past few months. Some government work has been secured, but apart from this the season has been fairly prosperous. Nevertheless there have been a great many handicaps. The peace talk that has been in the air of late has rendered the future uncertain so that the cotton mills were unable to plan ahead with the degree of confidence that would otherwise prevail.

There is no doubt that a radical change in conditions will follow the close of the war. Just what effect the change will have upon the mill business is problematical. It is probable, however, that most of the skilled hands who left the mills and went to the munition plants, will have an opportunity to return. There will be a curtailment in the output of the latter plants just as soon as peace shall have been declared. Then the mill hands will want back their old jobs in the mills. Some of them may get them back, but it is a certainty that a large proportion will not. Nor is it certain that the close of the war will bring a rush of business to the mills. It may or it may not.

But returning to the question of wages, it is well known to everybody that the cost of living is going higher and higher, and, naturally, the wage earners will look to their employers for something like a corresponding increase in wages. But whether this shall come or not, whether it should come or not, in justice to all concerned, let it be understood that no strikes will be justified. A strike in any industry at the present time is the nearest approach to aiding Germany that can be conceived. The Germans are paying men for promoting strikes wherever possible all over the country. The textile operatives are maintaining industrial peace so far as this industry is concerned and it is hoped they will so continue.

BUSINESS SHOWS PATRIOTISM

In the name of American business the representatives at the recent war convention held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States assured Uncle Sam he could have them, their industries, their good will and all the rest of their possessions on his own terms and conditions.

They went a step further and declared themselves in favor of price fixing by the government not only for its own needs, but also for the public, and for government control of distribution, in accordance with whatever need may develop.

They gave a pledge that there would be no unsettlement of labor conditions on their part for the duration of the war. In return, they asked for a truce by labor, so that the necessary war work could be speedily accomplished, and for arbitration by the government in any cases where disputes might arise.

This is progress.

Also patriotism. It is practical. It can be achieved. It will serve notice to the world, and particularly to Germany that we are indeed a united United States; that we are all of us in this war to win; that none of us is going to throw any obstacles in the path of the government. It costs big money to finance the war even for a day. Therefore let us get together and go in to finish it as soon as possible.

In times past it has often been said, and often with justice, that business is utterly selfish, utterly callous to the national needs, only occupied with the chase of the immediate dollar. But over night business has very largely gone democratic.

The business man realizes, as the laboring man does, as the farmer does, as all of us do, that unless we all put our shoulders to the wheel and do all we can to win this war—our business, our labor, our farms won't be worth very much. If we lose this war the kaiser will have a war mortgage in every business, every pay envelope, every farm in the land.

This is no idle dream, no scare story. When Germany conquered France in 1870 the Prussians not only took the rich territories of Alsace and Lorraine, but they imposed a staggering war indemnity and kept soldiers on French soil until the last penny of it was paid over.

Our hard-headed business men are determined this shall not happen. They promise to do their part. That is the American way. They will be imitated by all other real Americans.

SEEN AND HEARD

The foliage was never more beautiful than at present.

Speaking of food conservation, why not cut out the banquet?

You can't always judge a man by the price tag on the garments worn by his better half.

Life in a small town is not all moonlight and roses. Every year thousands come from the city to work in the millinery stores.

Very Good Year

Senator Smith of Georgia said at an Atlanta luncheon:

"German militarism set out to overrun the world. Before the disasters that have befallen it, however, German militarism must now be feeling a good deal like Cal Cal.

"Calhoun Clay of Point Rock was fishing for them in Florida, and he hooked such a big one that it pulled him overboard.

"As Cal went over the side of the boat and tore through the water in the tarpon's wake, he said:

"Wot Ah want ter know is dis—is dis nigger a fishin' or is dis fish a nigger?"

Girl Soda Clerks in Brockton

The sight of a young lady serving soda in a local drug store caused the comment to be printed the other day in another newspaper that the first woman soda fountain clerk had arrived in Brockton. Hardly correct; they have been employed for some time in a store on Centre street.

And the pioneer of them was a very pretty young lady from Charlestown who served in a drug store at the corner of Main and Crescent streets so many years ago that it would be un-gallant to tell the exact date, as the lady still lives.

She didn't work at the job very long, and Brockton people were much interested in her. They saw her on the stage in a lily-of-the-field at the City theatre. She became a stage beauty, noted for a fine figure which was freely displayed, and later in life went into heavier dramatic work.

The older readers at least who followed theatrical affairs remember her by her stage name of Nellie Butler—Brockton Enterprise.

She Paid Only Half Fare

It was a harvest supper that conjured up visions of the cornucopia of plenty. Six or more delicious vegetables, corned beef, crisp rolls, butter, relishes and two kinds of pie were set forth to those at the first table.

"Honest, I'm ashamed to spear another slice of that corned beef," Allie apologized, the while he speared it. "For a dollar and seventy-five, which is about the price of a meal in many places where they ain't so free with the portions, seven of us showed by the good-natured guy at the box office. For a quarter I say this comes mighty close to being a miracle."

"Your candidate looks up good in the miracle sweepstakes, I'll admit, but if you want to pick the real winner give the picture right across the up and down," remarked his companion.

Three little girls had come in at the usual reduced rate for children—15 cents. One was frail, with wistful eyes, veiled with heavily lidded eyelids. She was modest to shyness, but she plied her knife and fork to good purpose, nevertheless, until her plate was heaped with cabbage, beef, turnips, pumpkins, potatoes, and other things. "Then she leaned against the platter, spearing four thick slices of meat."

"Is a landside," said Allie. "She wins by acclamation. If that little angel isn't putting away 65 cents' worth of food, even at wholesale prices, I'm no judge of groceries."

Shoulder to Shoulder

Shoulder to shoulder! Each man in his place! Shoulder to shoulder, and "right about face!"

We've duty to do ere we grow a day older. And the way we can do it—shoulder to shoulder! Shoulder to shoulder! Each man in the line!

Shoulder to shoulder! The flag for a sign! Yes, let us not weaken, but let us grow bolder. And rally and rally with—"shoulder to shoulder!"

Shoulder to shoulder! Each man in his might! Shoulder to shoulder! We fight for the right!

The land of our love—may our courage unfold her! May we work—and not shrink—for her, shoulder to shoulder!

—Clint Scott, of the Vigilantes.

Two Splendid Things

One is plenty of open-air exercise.

If you can't get all of that you should, it's all the more important that you should have the other tried-and-true remedy for a torpid liver and bowels that don't act freely and naturally.

Take one pill every night, more only when you're sure it's necessary.

"We have used 'Fruit-a-tives' in our house for over three years and have always found them a good medicine. Our little girl, Hattie, was troubled with Kidney Disease. The doctor said she was threatened with Dropsy. Her limbs and body were all swollen and we began to think she could not live. Finally, we decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. She began to show improvement after we had given her a few tablets. In a short time, the swelling had all gone down and her flesh began to look more natural. Now she is the healthiest one in the family and has no signs of the old ailment. We can not say too much for 'Fruit-a-tives' and would never be without them."

PHRENETIC SHOWER

Mr. George B. Bayd and Miss Marjorie Dagle were the recipients of a pre-nuptial "shower" Thursday evening at 278 Cornhill street. The members of the Cornhill Whist club, of which the bridegroom-to-be's mother is a member, had general charge of the arrangements. During the evening Mr. Bayd and Miss Dagle were presented with several gifts which will be useful in their married career. Mrs. John Harrington making the presentation address on behalf of the club. A buffet lunch was served under the direction of Mrs. John McSorley and Mrs. Otter. The hour was late when the young couple were extended farewell wishes for happiness through the toast given by Mrs. John McSorley, Mrs. Fred Bingham, Mrs. John Harrington and Mrs. Anderson.

Interest begins Saturday, October 6th, at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

Pass by him on the road;
To haul them later from the mud.
He often drops his load.
Though gas gives out and motors stop
And wagons leave their wheels,
No power but death can halt the swift
Machinery of his heels.

He's going over the sea with us,
The soldier's faithful friend,
To do his humble part in France
Until the war shall end.
Who knows but that some day he may Be Fate's unconscious tool.
And kick the Kaiser off the earth.
The good old army mule!

LOWELL'S WAR WORK

The local public safety committee will soon hold a meeting to discuss the question of putting to wider and more practical use the war work headquarters at 119 Merrimack street. The quarters were originally intended to serve as a sort of clearing house for the various activities connected with the war. To a certain extent this original mission has been performed but as the different organizations began to enlarge their work they felt the need of larger accommodations and the result was the quarters in Merrimack street gradually lost track of them.

For instance, the Red Cross society was originally intended to conduct a sort of sub-station in the Merrimack street quarters where a person could get full information concerning the various phases of the work of that organization. But with the unexpected increase in the work of the society and the removal to the Market street rooms the society gradually lost its identity in Merrimack street.

Mr. Otto Hookmeyer, a member of the public safety committee and one of the most enthusiastic war workers in Lowell, stated this afternoon that an attempt will be made in the near future to centralize the war work in Lowell and to have representatives of the various organizations which are connected with this work on hand at the Merrimack street quarters to give information about with or her particular society or organization. It is planned to arrange the quarters so that each organization or society will have a desk and a certain amount of space in which to conduct its work. The main idea behind the scheme is to afford Lowell people who wish to do some war work which will be able to get information desired at a centrally located place.

Among the other features planned in connection with the work is the placing of an honor roll of all the Lowell men who have entered any branch of the national service. If possible an information bureau which will be able to tell relatives just what their fighting men are doing, insofar as military restrictions will allow, will be established.

Mayor O'Donnell will call a meeting of the public safety committee in the near future to discuss the plans for this work.

REDUCERS REDUCED BY THE TRUCKERS

The Truckers and Reducers of the U. S. Cartilage Co. contested on the alleys last night, and the former team showed its supremacy, winning three of the four points. The Reducers showed signs of life in the second string, but failed to make good in the first and third strings. The score:

TRUCKERS
P. McGowan	86	95	84
T. Barry	89	73	76

RACES AT GOLDEN COVE COLUMBUS DAY

The Lowell Driving club has arranged for a series of classic races at Golden Cove park on the afternoon of Columbus day, the two principal races being the 217 and 225 mile classes, each for a purse of $150. There will be some new horses entered and with the infusion of new blood and new material it is expected that the races will develop fresh interest in the sport, which, despite the best efforts of the local association, seem not to catch on here as it should. There are some good horses in Lowell, but the sport does not seem to receive the same support here that it does in other cities. The Lowell Driving club is trying hard to develop its track at Golden Cove and as horse racing is the cleanest kind of sport, the club members are entitled to greater support and appreciation than has been manifested heretofore. It is expected that several new and active members will be taken in at the next meeting of the club.

DE MAR SETS NEW RECORD IN MARATHON

Clarence De Mar, the noted Dorchester club runner who has won considerable fame as a Marathonist, achieved a new record yesterday in the 10th annual Brockton fair Marathon run. He not only won the event for the second time, but by covering the distance in 2 hours, 24 minutes, 41 seconds, he broke his record for the course, made in 1911, by 5 minutes, 51.3 seconds. It was the third Marathon record he has broken, having once lowered the M.A.A. record.

Although rain had made the roads muddy, the road conditions and weather were considered ideal for Marathon running. While the rain was on, De Mar set up, but shortly after De Mar finished, it again began to pour.

It was De Mar's experience and good condition that enabled him to win and finish strong. He avoided, as much as possible, the muddy parts of the road and did his running on the concrete and pebbled sections.

When De Mar finished he was nearly two hours ahead of Kyronen. The latter was nearly the same distance ahead of Linder, the third man. Roth, who was fourth to finish, was about the same distance behind Linder. There was more than seven minutes' difference between Roth and Kennedy, the fifth runner.

The others to finish in the following order were: Hans Schuster, Alfred Horne, Maplowood, W. Dwyer, Mohawk, A. C. New York, W. Franz, same club; H. A. Parker, Natick; Henry Kento, Johnson, Olin Woods, New York; John Tarrat, Beverly.

The times of the first five were:

	Hrs.	Min.	Sec.
De Mar	2	24	41.3
Kyronen	3	35	5
Linder	3	37	54.5
Roth	3	40	3
Kennedy	3	46	4

GUNNERS ARE WARNED NOT TO SHOOT CAROLINA PIGEONS—HEAVY FINES

Gunners hereabouts are warned to be on the lookout for the Carolina pigeon. This species of the pigeon has made its appearance in this section of late and in great numbers, with the result that some, it is reported, have been killed. The Carolina pigeon is protected by federal and state law and the warnings are about as very acute at the present time concerning them. Buckwheat is the chief resistance for the Carolina pigeon and where there is a field of buckwheat, there is a rule.

IMAJAY VICTOR IN TRANSYLVANIA

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 6.—The $5000 Transylvania stake was won yesterday afternoon by Ima Jay owned and driven by Harvey Ewald of Lauma, O. It took seven heats to decide the race, the largest number ever known for that event. Royal Mar, owned by Tommy Murphy, who also drove, took second money. The other two contenders, Early Dreams and Ross B, were ruled out in the last heat.

Four heats were trotted Thursday night because of darkness. The fifth was a whipping match yesterday from the stretch to the wire and Ima Jay won by a short head.

Walter Cox of Dover, N. H., drove Bruce Lassie, finishing fifth. He did better in the Lexington stake, however, for he won second money with Truxton, his boy colt, Peter June, driver the veteran, Ed. Geers, won this event.

The Blue Grass race brought out a good field, and Cox and his game little Baiter figured prominently in this event. Cox won by a short head. Cox took third place with Little Baiter in the first heat, was second in the next one, fourth in the third and won the fourth.

Cox had entries in the two class races which had to go over another day.

The racing started yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and continued until it was almost too dark to see the wire.

COBB AND ROUSH BATTING CHAMPS

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Ty Cobb, the Detroit star and Eddie Roush, the hitting champion of the long porch, continued until it was almost too dark to see the wire.

Cobb with an average of .350 finished with a lead of 22 points over Tris Speaker of Cleveland who led the American league in 1916, according to unofficial averages released today. Roush showed the way to the National league leaders with .348—21 points ahead of Roger Hornsby of St. Louis, his nearest rival. These averages include the final games of the season for the western teams.

In the American league the fight for base stealing honors resulted in a prize going to the Cleveland slugger, who led the league with 54. In four games Chapman stole six bases. Roth, Chapman's team mate, who held the lead a week ago stole 51 and Cobb 43. Chapman also topped the sacrifice hitters with 69.

Cobb was credited with 224 hits in 153 games. He chopped them out for 24 bases. His record included 43 doubles, 24 triples and six home runs. Pipp of New York, however, leads in circuit drives, having made nine up to October 3.

Owens Bush, the Detroit short stop is in possession of batting honors, having hit 12 times with Cobb six runs behind him. Detroit clung to team batting honors with 259 with the championship Chicago outfit five points behind.

Leading hitters who played in half or more of their club's games: Cobb, Detroit, .350; Speaker, Cleveland, .348; Sisler, St. Louis, .347; Veach, Detroit, .315; Felsch, Chicago, .308; Delahanty, Philadelphia, .305; Boston, .303; Harris, Cleveland, .303; Jackson, Chicago, .303; Chapman, Cleveland, .299.

In the National league Carey of Pittsburgh finished far in the front for batting honors with fifty thefts to his credit.

Including Wednesday's games Cravath of Philadelphia, and Robertson of New York were tied in home runs, each having 12. Burns of Brooklyn, on New York brought his record of runs scored up to 102. Groh of Cincinnati trailed him with 91. Deal of Chicago topped the sacrifice hitters with 22.

Hornsby, the St. Louis shortstop, who finished second to Roush in batting, stretched his hits for a total of 248 bases, while the best Roush could do was 240. Burns, however, drove in 163 hits which include eight home runs, 26 doubles and 15 triples. Roush made 18 doubles, 14 triples and four circuit drives. In team batting Cincinnati had 264 and New York 260.

WORLD'S SERIES AT ROLLAWAY

The great World's Series, now has replaced war news and other front page features in the papers throughout the country, and the fans all over the world are following the baseball classic with marked attention. Fans from all parts of the country are in the chosen cities clamoring for admission to the games. Thanks to the ingenuity of the inventor of the great electric score board, those who cannot remain at home can witness the games, and every play given accurately and expeditiously right before your eyes in our own city of Lowell. This is made possible by the installation of one of these boards at the highway rink on Hurd st. The games played at Chicago will start here at 5 o'clock, while those pulled off in New York will start at 2 o'clock.

LIVES 200 YEARS

For more than 200 years, Haerlem Oil, the famous national remedy of Holland, has been recognized as an infallible relief from all forms of kidney and bladder diseases. Its very name is proof that it must have unusual merit.

LA FOLLETTE REPLIES

assassination" against members of congress who voted against the war, was attempting to suppress discussion of war issues and intimidate the people themselves by invading their homes and unlawfully throwing them into jail.

All Opposed to War Attacked

The senator quoted at length from Mexican war speeches of Lincoln, Clay, Webster and Sumner, in support of his defense of the right of a member of congress to assail the policy of the government, and dwell at length upon the constitutional duty of congress, rather than the president, to proclaim the nation's purposes in taking up arms. He made no reference to the inquiry ordered yesterday by the senate into his speech before the non-partisan league at St. Paul, and dealt with criticism of himself only generally.

"Six members of the senate, and as I recall, about fifty members of the house, voted against the declaration of war," he said. "Immediately there was let loose upon those senators and representatives a flood of invective and abuse from newspapers and individuals who had been clamoring for war, unequalled, I believe, in the history of civilized society."

President Not Immune

"Prior to the declaration of war, every man who had ventured to oppose our entrance into it had been condemned as a coward or worse, and even the president had by no means been immune from these attacks. Since the declaration of war the triumph of war party has purchased the silence of its representatives who voted against war, with malicious falsehoods and recklessly libelous attacks, going to the extreme limit of charging them with treason against their country."

"It is not claimed that the senators who opposed the declaration of war have been treated with any concerted purpose either regarding war measures or any others. They have voted according to their individual opinions, have often been opposed to each other on bills, and, according to my recollection, have never voted together on any single proposition upon which the senate has been divided."

Senator La Follette declared that if he alone had been made the victim of these attacks he would not take the senate's valuable time for their consideration.

Homes of People Invaded

"But, sir," he continued, "it is not alone the members of congress that the war party in this country has sought to intimidate. The mandate has gone forth to the sovereign people of this country, that they must be silent while those things are being done by their government which most vitally concern their well-being, their happiness and their lives. Today and for weeks past, honest and law-abiding citizens of this country have been terrorized and outraged in their rights by those sworn to uphold the laws and protect the rights of the people, I have in my possession numerous affidavits establishing the fact that people are being unlawfully arrested, thrown into jail, held in prison, and eventually discharged without ever having been taken into court, because they have committed no crime. Private residences are being invaded, loyal citizens of undoubted integrity and probity arrested, constitutionally guaranteed to every American citizen are being continually violated."

Country in State of Terror

"It appears to be the purpose of those conducting this campaign to throw the country into a state of terror, to coerce public opinion, to stifle criticism and suppress discussion of the great issues involved in this war."

Besides quoting at length from the American declaration of war, opposing the president's policy in the Mexican war, the Wisconsin senator gave extracts from speeches by Burke, Fox, Lord Chatham and others in the British parliament attacking Great Britain's war upon the American colonies.

He showed that the principle of free speech was no new doctrine born of the constitution of the United States.

In support of his assertion that congress should speak for the country in declaring the purposes of war, the senator cited precedents at great length.

"It would be had enough if the constitution clothed the president with any such power," he said. "But to exercise such power without constitutional authority cannot long be tolerated if even the forms of government are to remain. I know that the people would resist, and if necessary resist with arms in their hands, any scheme to clothe the president with power to plunge this country into war and then to continue the war as long as he desired."

Senator La Follette said no conviction was stronger with the people today than that there should be no future war except in case of actual invasion unless supported by referendum.

"And," he added, "because there is no clearness of understanding, no unity of opinion in this country on the part of the people as to the conditions upon which we are prosecuting this war or what the specific objects are upon the attainment of which the present administration would be willing to concede to the heroines still more imperative each day that congress should assert its constitutional power to define and declare the objects of this war which will afford the basis for a conference and for the establishment of permanent peace."

He asked the German people to speak for themselves on this great world issue, why should not the American people voice their convictions through their chosen representatives in congress.

DEATHS

BROCK.—Mrs. Greenleaf C. Brock died Thursday at the New England sanitarium at Melrose.

Mrs. Harriet Francis Brock was born at New Hampton, N. H., May 1, 1842, being the daughter of the late James M. Howe and Sarah K. Howe. At one time Mrs. Brock was the leading soprano singer of the city and always retained her interest in the Choral society.

During the Civil war Mrs. Brock and her husband went to Washington, to care the wounded soldiers. She was intensely interested in the war work and was a prominent member of the Molly Wigham chapter, D.A.R., and was one of the founders of the Middlesex Women's club.

Mrs. Brock was the widow of Dr. Marshall L. Brock, son, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 24 Thidden street, at the age of 81 years. She was the wife of the late George H. Lewis of this city and Mrs. Samuel M. Burbank of Philadelphia, Pa., and two grandchildren, Harriet M. and Arthur M. Lewis.

LAVINE.—Joseph Lavine, infant son of Alexandre and Marie Louise Lavine, died yesterday at the age of four months.

THE DAY'S NEWS AT CITY HALL

Mayor James E. O'Donnell has written a letter to Lieut. Gov. Calvin Coolidge, chairman of the finance committee of the governor's council, asking him to give a favorable decision on the matter of the erection of dwellings in this city by the Homestead commission. Under the law authorizing an appropriation of $100,000 for the erection of dwellings under the supervision of the Homestead commission, it is necessary for the commission to receive the approval of the chairman of the finance committee of the governor's council before proceeding with the work.

When the Homestead commission was appointed and given an appropriation its members came to Lowell and selected a tract of land in Hildreth street for an experiment. A couple of weeks ago plans for the buildings to be erected were prepared and bids were called. Now the commission awaits the decision of the lieutenant governor before going further with its work. The letter sent by the mayor follows:

October 6, 1917.
Hon. Calvin Coolidge,
Lieut. Gov. of Massachusetts, State House, Boston, Mass.
Your Honor:

I have been informed that the Homestead commission awaits only your favorable decision to begin the work of constructing dwellings in this city, which are to be purchased by working people. I would respectfully request, in behalf of the citizens of Lowell, that you give the desired consideration to this proposition, which we are all so deeply interested, thereby permitting the good work to be started.

Lowell is a community of intelligent, industrious and thrifty working people. The ambition of the head of every family down to the humblest is to own his own home. With that end in view all work hard and faithfully and live with strict economy in order to lay aside from their earnings a small excess which forms the nucleus of the fund that eventually is to purchase the home.

Local unions having tickets from Lowell Textile School are requested to make returns immediately. Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. Annie Reagan will be at Trades & Labor Council office, 32 Middle street, from 9 to 5 every evening. From 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon until 9 o'clock.

ROGERS HALL SCHOOL GYMNASIUM SCENE OF SCHOOL'S QUARTER-CENTURY CELEBRATION

ROGERS HALL SCHOOL

Rogers Hall school celebrated its quarter-century with a formal celebration in its gymnasium last evening. Inclement weather failed to detract from the pleasure of those who high school exercises and another of those high school exercises which are characteristic of the institution gave these present last evening several hours of real happiness.

Last night's gathering was representative of the whole career of Rogers Hall school. Present pupils and past pupils, present teachers and past teachers, present persons who had been intimately acquainted with the circumstances surrounding the founding of Rogers Hall all were on hand to provide the cosmopolitan atmosphere necessary for an occasion such as last evening.

The setting of the celebration was all that could be desired. The auditorium was decorated with autumn leaves and the platform was partly hidden from view by a screen of the same foliage. This was timely and appropriate. The exercises were of a high order and far more impressive was the scene in the gallery of the gymnasium. Here a group of the younger girls of the school were kneeling for the program. Undoubtedly they intended to form part in the decorative scheme but their appearance was the most significant touch of the entire affair.

The exercises opened shortly after eight o'clock with Mr. George C. Vlach at the piano. A waltz by Rachmaninoff and Liszt's sonorous "Gnomes" were his offerings and he treated each number with the individual taste which is his trademark. Littlefield sang two groups of songs which gave her opportunity to display wide versatility. The piano and her program was as follows:

1—Gretry—Arllette de l'ami de la Maison (1771)
Messaeger—La maison gris
Puccini—Aria, "Son la sospira" from Tosca.
2—Handel—Skyline, Pretty Rover
Margaret Lang—Triste Noel
Florence A. Spalding—The Sells
Foster—One Golden Day

Series of Addresses
A series of addresses then began. Rev. A. C. Perrin presided in the absence of Rev. John M. Greene, D. D., president of the board of trustees. Professor Charles Forbes of Phillips academy, Andover, was introduced as the principal speaker of the evening and he chose as his subject "Some Educational Reflections." Evidently Professor Forbes is not a somniferous thinker for his remarks were so full of pointed comments on the state of education in this country that he seemed to add force to his serious statements and his remarks, which were addressed primarily to the teachers, were well received. He told of the delicate task which he himself experienced in managing a group of boys and told of the marveling at the power which enables a teacher to deal successfully with a group of young ladies.

The speaker urged his listeners to impress upon their pupils the necessity of living and doing in the present and not to harp on the glory to be theirs in the future. He said, "Nothing is more dulling to active spirits than constant drill in preparing for the future."

In the conclusion of his address he touched upon the war theme. He appealed for the continuation of the cultivation of the human mind and soul and asked that the gradually increasing number of students be allowed to enter into the lives of those who had exalted aims. He proved himself no pacifist, however, in his closing sentence, "May God save us from all the supineness of soul that would preach peace at the cost of a principle."

A letter from Dr. Greene to Miss Parsons, principal of Rogers Hall, was then read by Mr. Ferrin and it expressed the highest praise for the work which the school was doing. Miss Parsons then took over the program temporarily and introduced the women speakers. Before doing so, however, she told of some of the aspirations of Rogers Hall. She complimented Dr. Greene on his ability to influence people of means. Not only had he dedicated the school to Rogers Hall, the founder and benefactor of the school, to create Rogers Hall, but he had also been instrumental in the founding of Smith Hall.

Miss Parsons introduced Miss Eastman, registrar of Smith and a trustee of Rogers Hall. The latter said that she had dedicated the school to Rogers Hall and had found that 40 students had come to Smith from Rogers Hall since the latter school was founded.

Abbot academy was represented by the next speaker, Miss Bailey, principal of the academy. She said that she bore the congratulations of her school to Rogers Hall upon the occasion of its attaining maturity.

Miss Laura A. Knott, principal of Bradford academy, was next introduced and received a warm welcome from her old friends in Lowell. Bradford had celebrated its centenary 14 years ago and the speaker said that there was, therefore, a wide discrepancy in the ages of the two schools, but not in the general aims. She then made a plea for the need of such schools as Rogers Hall in a country like the United States.

Miss Knott, principal of the Lincoln school in Providence, had taught in Rogers Hall for six years and was no stranger to last evening's audience. She told of the happiness which her experiences at Rogers Hall had afforded her.

The next speaker was Miss Mabel Hill, now connected with Dana Hall and well known in Lowell. Miss Hill told of the power which the Rogers Hall type of school had over girls of youthful ages and said that the careful school would direct the natural enthusiasm and eagerness of its young women in the very best channels of usefulness.

The School's History
The final speaker was Miss Olive S. Parsons herself. Mr. Ferrin introduced her as a principal who would tell the story of Rogers Hall—"past, present and future."

She said that the first emergence of Rogers Hall from its chrysalis was 25 years ago, when Mrs. Underhill attempted to create a school for girls in Belvidere. It was only partially successful, however, because no boarders were taken in. A year later Miss Elizabeth Rogers, at 70 years of age, gave up her fine home that Rogers Hall might be established. The school opened with 13 boarding pupils and 25 day pupils. At first the progress was almost negligible because of the failure of Lowell as a city to offer any attraction to outsiders.

The school came into its own eventually, however, and Miss Parsons sketched in detail the rapid progress which it has made in recent years. She then told of the aspirations and aims of her school and urged her present pupils, particularly, to help her in the realization of these ambitions. Many former pupils of the school—were present at last evening's affair and a program of entertainment followed which will extend over today and tomorrow has been arranged. Today a number of athletic events were staged in the gymnasium of the school and also on the grounds without. Suitable entertainment will be provided this evening and tomorrow the visitors in the morning and at noon luncheon will be served at the country club.

Cordis in Billerica on Sept. 17, was called to court for the defense. He had the reading of the complaint, the court found probable cause and the defendant was held in $2500 bonds for his appearance before the superior court. This is the case where it is alleged that the defendant, owing to jealousy, shot Cordis, while the latter was working in a field in Billerica.

Thomas Eagle, charged with neglect of wife, was given a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction on condition that he turn his pay over to his wife every week.

Serious Assault
Joseph Caseman was charged with assault and battery on David Hassan. Caseman and Hassan were employed at the Talbot mill in Billerica, and on Aug. 20th it is alleged that Hassan, while passing through the wet filling room of the mill, dropped a roll of cloth. Hassan charged over the head, hitting a cut over the eye and rendering Hassan unconscious. Hassan was removed to a hospital, where eight stitches were taken in the wound and remained in the hospital for two weeks and since that time has been unable to do any work.

The court found the defendant guilty of suspended sentence for one week in order to give the parties in the affair a chance to reach an agreement on civil settlement.

Drunk Offenders
Patrick H. Royal came up on continuance on a complaint charging him with drunkenness. It was his fifth appearance since May and at the recent criminal session of the superior court he pleaded guilty to two appearances of drunkenness, a fine of $10 being imposed on one, while he was placed on probation on the other. He was given a suspended sentence to the state farm.

Simon Parela was charged with drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. By agreement the case was continued until Nov. 2.

James Grand, charged with drunkenness, was given a suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction and placed on probation for six months.

AMERICA GOING TO WIN WAR

Pershing Declares Our Forces Will Carry Cause of Allies to Successful Issue

Replies to Report the War on Western Front Will Result in Stalemate

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Oct. 5.—(By The Associated Press.)—(Delayed)—America's fighting men will carry the cause of the entente allies to a successful issue over Germany, Gen. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American forces in France declared today. His statement was in answer to reports that the war on the western front will result in a stalemate.

American newspapers recently arrived in France telling of efforts in certain quarters in the United States to spread the idea that the western front can never be broken or the Germans driven out of France, and that the only way to win the war is the entire American army. Further resentment has been caused by the information that these reports had been taken up by German newspapers in an attempt to belittle America's effort in the war.

"German propaganda working in America through the agency of our pacifists would spread this idea among our people in order to weaken our initiative," said Gen. Pershing. "Having lost its tactical advantage in the Ypres salient which it enjoyed for more than two years, the German army continues to yield ground before the hammering British assaults. Everywhere on the western front, despite the large number of German troops which the Russian situation has released, Germany is on the defensive and the allies are on the offensive."

"America has the resources in men and material, once they are prepared, to add the weight which must force a military decision against Germany. Our troops are imbued with spirit of aggressiveness, a spirit that means we are going to win this war and that we have no idea of allowing ourselves to be influenced by pacifists or enemy propaganda. Neither have we any false notions that victory is going to be an easy matter, but that only makes our determination stronger."

ment was made in the following statement:

"The secretary of the navy authorizes the publication of this account of an engagement between an American destroyer and an enemy submarine. This is one of a number of encounters of a more or less similar nature, the details of which have been made public in this manner, as soon as possible."

(A feature of interest attaches to this engagement, because it was the occasion for a letter of appreciation from the British admiralty which expressed admiration for the efficiency and seamanship conduct of the officers and crew of the American destroyer.)

"For military reasons the name of the destroyer and the date and the location of the action are withheld. The following account of the engagement was prepared from the complete report received by the navy department."

"The American destroyer first sighted the submarine in the early morning of a clear day. The sea was entirely calm with hardly a ripple of foam. The submarine was running submerged with the conning tower so close to a nearby ship torpedo that the officer of the deck thought that this was what it was."

"The next instant the destroyer changed courses sharply to the left and headed for the U-boat's conning tower. At the same time the conning tower opened fire on the periscope. The commanding officer ordered a course steered that would bring the destroyer across the wake of the U-boat a little later to the rear of the periscope."

"As the destroyer dashed across the line of bubbles a depth charge was dropped and a column of clear water shot 30 feet into the air. The destroyer turned to the right swiftly circling and her starboard guns opened on the periscope as she came around to cross the U-boat's wake again. Again a column of clear water showed that the depth charge had not reached its mark."

"Another quick turn to the right brought the starboard guns to bear, but this time the destroyer turned so sharply that she was able to come down for the third attack in the wake of the submarine. The third depth charge brought up a column of clear water and the destroyer edged once more to the left. The U-boat's port guns opened up but without visible result.

"The last time the destroyer came down to the attack exactly in the wake of the U-boat and ceased firing. As she neared the end of the U-boat's wake the fourth depth charge was let go and then followed a widespread boiling up of the surface of the sea, large bubbles and at last a heavy bill of oil.

"The destroyer spent some time looking for further traces of the U-boat, but none was found. She then proceeded on her course. The engagement lasted 22 minutes."

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Charles A. Chambers, Charles E. Mitchell and William Strauss, all claiming South Boston as their home, were arraigned in Middlesex street, near the Boston & Maine depot, about 6.30 o'clock last night by Patrolman Cornelius P. Sullivan, subsequent to a bottle which occurred and in which two of the members of the party were killed.

Chambers, Mitchell, Strauss and another man, name was found, the court found that they were drunk and after frequenting some of the thirdest extinguishing parlors in the city stepped out into the street and were shot by some members of the foreign element whom they termed as "Wops." While walking along the street they were "bumped" and took offense whereupon one of the strangers pulled out a knife and slashed Strauss over the nose and cut Mitchell over the under side of the left cheek.

Patrolman Sullivan appeared on the scene shortly after the assault took place and placed the three men under arrest. The fourth man in the party and the alleged assailants making their escape.

Strauss was sent to St. John's hospital where the cut over his nose was dressed and he was then returned to the police station. Mitchell's wounds were entered. Chambers and Mitchell were fined $5 each, while Strauss was released.

BANK MEN HOLD LIBERTY BOND CONFERENCE

Every bank in Lowell was represented at a conference held this morning at the rooms of the Morris Plan Co., in Shattuck street in connection with the local Liberty bond campaign. The conference was called so that the banks might understand fully the general policy to be followed in the campaign, and N. G. Nickerson, Jr., representing the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, was present to enlighten the gathering on intricate points of the national loan. Several rulings in connection with the bonds which have been handed down by the national committee were explained by him.

It was voted that all the local banks should report daily to the Morris Plan Co. the amount of subscriptions which they had obtained during the day and that the report to Boston should be made from this company. The campaign is progressing favorably in Lowell, up until last night the total amount reported was $428,900. Of this $200,500 came in yesterday. The Union National bank was the largest reported having a total of $175,250 as the result of its day's work. Today the Central Savings bank corralled $100,000 which it will report this evening and the Mechanics bank has $50,000 on hand. The Old Lowell will report $600.

Among the large individual subscribers yesterday were the following reported by the Union National bank: Lowell Gas Light Co., $25,000; Arthur G. Pollard, $25,000; Amasa Pratt, $25,000; estate of Jacob Rogers, $25,000; Fred C. Church, $10,000; George S. Hatley, $20,000; Frank E. Dunbar, $10,000; John F. Sawyer, $5,000; Mrs. Ida M. Smith, $5,000; Walter I. Chase, $5,000; Hon. J. J. Pickman, $5,000; Chas. A. Brown, $5,000; Dr. A. R. Gardner, $5,000; Congressman John Jacob Rogers, $2,500.

The complete tabulation of yesterday's report follows:

Union National	$175,250
Old Lowell	12,000
Appleton	4,000
Washington Savings	3,500
Mechanics Savings	2,500
Wameist National	2,100
Central Savings	1,100
Total	$200,500
Previously reported	$228,400
Total to date	$428,900

It lodges in city and country in damp, dark cellars. It haunts the low swampy spots on the farm or in the garden. It is often found too late in the clear water of an old country well not much used.

There are other malarials than those that attack the bodies that cause an infection in the mind, such as reading bad books, or affect the pocketbooks of purchasers who buy inferior articles because they are put forward as cheap. Early Morning Scenes

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Today is the great day of all the baseball world. This afternoon at 2 o'clock (3 o'clock eastern time) the New York team, champions of the National league, and the Chicago White Sox, champions of the American league, are to meet for the world's championship.

All night long a line of two or three hundred persons, including a

DEMOCRATS OPEN SESSIONS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The democrats of Massachusetts met in state convention today to ratify the nomination of Frederick W. Mansfield of Boston for governor at the recent primaries and to adopt a platform.

Former Governor David I. Walsh has been selected as permanent chairman, District Attorney Joseph Ely of Berkshire county as temporary chairman and former Attorney General Thomas J. Boynton as chairman of the committee on resolutions.

At an all night session of the resolutions committee a platform was drawn up for presentation to the convention in which endorsement of President Wilson's administration had a prominent part and which contained recommendations for much radical state legislation.

The platform as presented by the resolutions committee "unreservedly endorsed in its entirety the national administration of President Wilson, declaring that it had been constructed under more difficult conditions than those that ever confronted any administration in the history of the country."

Devoting special attention to the basis for conscripting aliens, the platform said:

"As far as permitted under treaty obligations we believe that aliens enjoying all the benefits of residence in America should be called upon to bear the same part as citizens in the service of this country and we heartily endorse the effort of the administration in this direction."

The attempt of the constitutional convention to place before the people questions of absentee voting, public trading and the initiative and referendum was endorsed. The republican party was charged with failure to enact measures pledged in the campaign and "the lack of leadership by the present republican governor" was condemned.

The platform was devoted largely to a presentation of state issues for which the party had declared itself.

few women, stood in line at the windows, where at 10 o'clock this morning the 15,000 remaining pavilion and bleacher seats were to be sold.

It was cold and rainy. Sunlight there was a drizzle of rain. Sunlight was delayed somewhere in the fog. Through the long hours a ghostly line stretched its length along the fence of Commonwealth park.

Out of the surrounding darkness in increasing numbers as the hands of a distant tower clock wound round the clock other ghostly figures added to the line.

Huddle Around Small Fires

The reluctant gray of the morning had not appeared when newsworthy came shouting on the scene with "all about the world's series" and were relieved of their supplies in short order.

A nearby lumber yard served to supply fuel for innumerable small fires, which the fanatics of the game huddled and studied out the stories, taking care, however, not to leave their places in line. Policemen kept order and settled more than one dispute as to position.

Probable Pitchers

The papers, it appeared, were reasonably certain that Cicotte would pitch for Chicago and Schupp for New York. Second choice was Faber for the locals and Peritt for the invaders.

Dawn brought no physical warmth, but it was full of promise, as the rain seemed to have ceased definitely and spirits rose. New arrivals came now in groups and the lines grew rapidly until they wound out of sight of the victrol windows around the corners into side streets.

Many Women in Line

By 7 o'clock 1500 persons were in the lines. There were probably 20 women among them. They were for the most part well dressed and prosperous appearing. Some of them explained that their money had been sent back to them after the reserved seats had been allotted and that "they just had to see the games" and had sacrificed some hours of sleep to do so.

There were also a number of sailors. At 7.30 tarpaulins were removed from the base lines and the grounds pronounced reasonably fit for the contest about to be put on.

O'Loughlin Behind Bat

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—"Silk" O'Loughlin, dean of American league umpires, was selected to judge balls and strikes and thus be senior umpire of the first world's series games of 1917. The other three arbiters, Evans, of the American league and Klem and Rigler of the National will be stationed on the bases, a new system of deciding plays in the big games.

G. D. P. CONVENES AT SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 6.—The adoption of resolutions setting forth the attitude of the party in war was the principal task before the republicans of Massachusetts gathered in state convention today. Gov. Samuel W. McCall, recently nominated at the primaries for a third term, was on hand to deliver an address. Senator John W. Weeks, permanent chairman; Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Lieut. Gov. Calvin Coolidge were the other speakers.

Former Congressman Charles G. Washburn was selected as chairman of the committee on resolution.

Sen. Weeks Speaks

"The course the republican party should follow is clear," said Senator Weeks. "It should support the administration in every action which will result in a vigorous and successful prosecution of the war. It should resist every attempt to change the principles on which our government was founded and especially replacing representative government with one based on state socialism. The one great purpose we all have at heart is to win this war and to that every thing else should be subordinated."

Senator Weeks urged the necessity of congressional co-operation in keeping down extravagance in war financing through the appointment of a congressional committee on expenditures.

Gov. McCall said that the war must "give pause to the strife of politics" and that "the only thing for every American to do is to stand by."

"I take no risk," he continued, "in saying that you are to a man in favor of such a prosecution of the war as shall destroy the barbaric force and set up the rule of reason among the nations. And I believe also I take no

JOHN COX FOUND DEAD IN BED

Although he seemed to be enjoying the best of health last evening, John Cox, an employee of the Tremont & Suffolk mill, aged about 55 years, was found dead in his room at 6 Dutton street shortly before noon today, death being due to natural causes.

Cox had been a resident of this city for about nine months and for the past six months had been employed at the Tremont & Suffolk mill. A short time ago he received injuries to his foot, but although he was on the sick list and receiving compensation he was not about. Yesterday he went out and last evening he retired at his usual hour.

At 11 o'clock this forenoon Miss May Merrill and Miss Lottie Berry, who are employed at 6 Dutton street, went to Cox's room and found him dead in bed. Medical Examiner E. Smith was called. Deceased is survived by his wife and several children in Providence. The police stated this afternoon that he also had a relative by the name of Riley living in Centralville.

THE STOCK MARKET
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—From a firm opening today's short session of the stock market gradually developed a lower trend. War shares and rails featured the early demand but fell away when selling of steels and special industrial issues assumed the lead. Bethlehem Steel led a point each, Midvale Steel 2 1-2 and equipments, oils and utilities surrendered initial gains of 1 to almost 2 points. Dealings were wholly proportionate and limited to the prominent issues. The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 250,000 shares. Liberty bonds sold between 99.72 and 99.75.

COAL DEALER TALKS ON PRICE OF COAL

The story which appeared in The Sun yesterday relative to the purchase of coal by the government for the Lowell postoffice at $4.45 a ton has aroused fresh interest in the high cost of coal. Local dealers here have had many questions to answer.

Discussing the matter today with a representative of The Sun, Mr. Joseph Mullin, one of Lowell's best known coal dealers, said: "The story to the effect that coal had been bought at the mines for $4.45 a ton, and that it would be sold at $5.00 a ton, or it would seem that everybody thinks the coal men are get-rich-quick artists. If there were as much money in the coal business as one might think there would be, there would be more men in the coal business."

He said on the coal for the Lowell postoffice, and was the lowest bidder. My bid was $3.70 a ton. I got the contract to unload the coal that the government sent here, and I am more satisfied with the unloading and delivery contract than I am with the purchase of coal. The first place you had to send a certified check with your bill and you had to wait four or five days for your money. The government is big body and large bodies move slowly."

La Follette Defends His Stand in Bitter Reply to Critics Congress Adjourns Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The senate at 12:25 p. m., adopted a resolution providing for adjournment of congress at 3 p. m. today.

Wilson Praised Congress
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The work of the congressional session adjourning today was praised by President Wilson in a statement saying: "The needs of the army and navy have been met in a way that assures the effectiveness of American arms, and the war making branch of the government has been abundantly equipped with the powers that were necessary to make the action of this nation effective."

Investigate La Follette's Speech
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Headed by Senator Pomeroy of Ohio the following members of the senate privileges and elections committee were appointed today as the sub-committee to investigate Senator La Follette's St. Paul speech. Senators Walsh of Montana and James of Kentucky, and Dillingham of Vermont and Fall of New Mexico, republicans. The sub-committee will hold its first meeting Monday.

La Follette Answers Critics
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Congress entered the last hours of the session with all attention turned to the senate, where Senator La Follette took the floor at 1 o'clock to make a three-hour speech in answer to the critics who have petitioned for his expulsion because of his course and public utterances toward the war.

By pre-arrangement, two hours were reserved for the senator to reply at the close of his speech, and unless some unforeseen development took place adjournment of congress for the session was expected at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Standing at his seat in the front row before the vice president's desk, La Follette began his address, reading carefully and deliberately his manuscript with senators giving close attention.

Defending his course of opposing the declaration of war and subsequent American policy, La Follette declared: "It is the citizen's duty to obey the law until it is repealed or declared unconstitutional. But he has the inalienable right to fight what he deems an obnoxious law or a wrongful policy in the courts and at the ballot box."

"It is the suppressed emotion of the masses that breeds revolution. In the great war, if public opinion is to be enlightened and intelligent, there must be free discussion."

"Congress as well as the people of the United States entered the war in great confusion of mind and under feverish excitement. The president's leadership was followed by the senate. The war had some big, unexplained plan by which peace that would exist him before all the world would soon be achieved."

While it was true that the war must be fought through with, he said, it was not true that "we must go through to the end to accomplish an undisclosed purpose, to reach an unknown goal."

PERU SOON TO BREAK LOWELL RECRUITING TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 5.—(Delayed)—The Peruvian government probably will soon break off diplomatic relations with Germany. The first step was taken today when congress by an almost unanimous vote decided in favor of such a course.

Lowell Navy Recruiting Station's Record
 The Lowell navy recruiting station secured 10 per cent of the total naval enlistments in the Boston district for the week ending Oct. 4. This district comprises Boston, Lowell and other cities and towns of New England.

Among the recent enlistments at the regular army recruiting office in Central street was that of Harley J. Currier of 107 Adams street, who joined the cavalry. He left for Ft. Slocum the latter part of this week.

Lowell Boys Lonesome
 Eight young men who sign themselves as "Lonesome Lowell Boys in Texas" have sent a letter to The Sun, asking that some Lowell people, preferably young ladies, should write to them. The letter was signed by James E. Keefe, William H. White, Thomas F. Brennan, William Hagerman, Lawrence Wise and James J. Bell.

Lowell Doctor's Appointment
 Dr. Roy S. Perkins of 276 Pine street has received an appointment to the Medical Officers' Reserve corps, with headquarters at Boston. Dr. Perkins is a specialist in X-ray work. ## OUR AIRPLANE FLEET

With 20,000 airplanes to co-operate with our armies in the spring in an effort to end the war, it is probable that Germany will keep her planes at home to save Berlin. She will get a taste of the warfare she has been inflicting on London in the vain hope of forcing peace.

EXAMINING PHYSICIANS BLAMED

The examining physicians of the exemption boards appear to have come in for serious blame on account of having sent to Camp Devens men in advanced stages of consumption, cripples, epileptics and other invalids. The army surgeons have sent a large number home but so far as we know none have been returned to Lowell.

RAIDER AT LARGE

Another German raider at large in the Southern Pacific! How these raiders get out may be a puzzle to some. They are captured ships rigged and armed by Germans. These raiders may have a base of supply somewhere on this hemisphere. The merchant submarines may carry out the necessary munitions. Still there is not much ground for alarm from this picked-up raider.

TIGHTENING THE EMBARGO

The Allies in Europe are now tightening the embargo against export to border neutrals from which Germany can receive the cargoes shipped to these neutrals. The Export Board of the United States is now co-operating with the Allies against this indirect export of supplies to Germany. It comes mainly from certain South American countries. Hereafter the United States will refuse bunker coal to the vessels engaged in this business unless they submit their cargoes to inspection. That will hamper some of them very considerably and it will increase the necessities of Germany.

THE BRITISH VICTORY

If the weather holds good in Flanders for another month, the British forces will probably dislodge the Germans from their submarine and aviation bases. General Haig has done remarkably great work during the past few months in beating back the Germans and capturing the most commanding positions in a wide salient of the western front. The ridges captured are of the strategic kind that make future victories more easy. These triumphs, however, have not been won without the most desperate fighting attended with heavy losses. The British losses, it is true, have not been nearly so heavy as those of the enemy. General Haig will undoubtedly make the most of his present advanced position, giving the enemy no chance to regain lost ground, and forcing another strategic Hindenburg retreat.

BUY A LIBERTY BOND

The men and the women who are not subject to military service have a duty to perform fully as important as that of the men who are drafted for service on the battlefield. Their duty is to supply the sinews of war—the guns, the munitions, the ships, the airplanes, the food and the clothing necessary for the maintenance of the war. It requires vast amounts of money to provide all these essentials. The government has no money for these purposes except what it gets from the people through taxation and loans authorized by congress. The people of this nation are now called upon for the second Liberty Loan. The sum of $3,000,000,000 is asked from the American people at the very respectable rate of 4 per cent. There should be no hesitation in advancing this amount. The rate of interest is as high as paid by the savings banks and the security is the best in the world. There is no sacrifice here. Rather is it a splendid opportunity to invest money where it will be absolutely safe. Considering the purpose and the imperative necessity, every citizen who has the money and who has a spark of patriotism in his make up will buy a Liberty Bond.

OUR COTTON MILLS

If the cotton mills of Lawrence are able to give an increase in wages at this time, no doubt the operatives of the local cotton mills will begin to inquire "when does our turn come?" So far as can be learned, the business in all the cotton mills of this city has been very satisfactory during the past few months. Some government work has been secured, but apart from this the season has been fairly prosperous. Nevertheless there have been a great many handicaps. The peace talk that has been in the air of late has rendered the future uncertain so that the cotton mills were unable to plan ahead with the degree of confidence that would otherwise prevail.

There is no doubt that a radical change in conditions will follow the close of the war. Just what effect the change will have upon the mill business is problematical. It is probable, however, that most of the skilled hands who left the mills and went to the munition plants, will have an opportunity to return. There will be a curtailment in the output of the latter plants just as soon as peace shall have been declared. Then the mill hands will want back their old jobs in the mills. Some of them may get them back, but it is a certainty that a large proportion will not. Nor is it certain that the close of the war will bring a rush of business to the mills. It may or it may not.

But returning to the question of wages, it is well known to everybody that the cost of living is going higher and higher, and, naturally, the wage earners will look to their employers for something like a corresponding increase in wages. But whether this shall come or not, whether it should come or not, in justice to all concerned, let it be understood that no strikes will be justified. A strike in any industry at the present time is the nearest approach to aiding Germany that can be conceived. The Germans are paying men for promoting strikes wherever possible all over the country. The textile operatives are maintaining industrial peace so far as this industry is concerned and it is hoped they will so continue.

BUSINESS SHOWS PATRIOTISM

In the name of American business the representatives at the recent war convention held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States assured Uncle Sam he could have them, their industries, their good will and all the rest of their possessions on his own terms and conditions.

They went a step further and declared themselves in favor of price fixing by the government not only for its own needs, but also for the public, and for government control of distribution, in accordance with whatever need may develop.

They gave a pledge that there would be no unsettlement of labor conditions on their part for the duration of the war. In return, they asked for a truce by labor, so that the necessary war work could be speedily accomplished, and for arbitration by the government in any cases where disputes might arise.

Also patriotism.

It is practical. It can be achieved. It will serve notice to the world, and particularly to Germany that we are indeed a united United States; that we are all of us in this war to win; that none of us is going to throw any obstacles in the path of the government. It costs big money to finance the war even for a day. Therefore let us get together and go in to finish it as soon as possible.

In times past it has often been said, and often with justice, that business is utterly selfish, utterly callous to the national needs, only occupied with the chase of the immediate dollar. But over night business has very largely gone democratic.

The business man realizes, as the laboring man does, as the farmer does, as all of us do, that unless we all put our shoulders to the wheel and do all we can to win this war—our business, our labor, our farms won't be worth very much. If we lose this war the Kaiser will have a war mortgage in every business, every pay envelope, every farm in the land.

This is no idle dream, no scare story. When Germany conquered France in 1870 the Prussians not only took the rich territories of Alsace and Lorraine, but they imposed a staggering war indemnity and kept soldiers on French soil until the last penny of it was paid over.

Our hard-headed business men are determined this shall not happen. They promise to do their part. That is the American way. They will be imitated by all other real Americans.

Girl Soda Clerks in Brockton

The sight of a young lady serving soda in a local drug store caused the comment to be printed the other day in another newspaper that the first woman soda fountain clerk had arrived in Brockton. Hardly correct; they have been employed for some time in a store on Centre street. And the pioneer of them all was a very pretty young lady from Charlestown who served in a drug store at the corner of Main and Crescent streets so many years ago that it would be ungratifying to tell the exact date, as the lady still lives. She didn't work at the job very long, and Brockton people were much interested some time later to see her on the stage in a light farce at the City theatre. She became a stage beauty, noted for a fine figure which was freely displayed, and later in life went into heavy dramatic work. The older readers at least who followed theatrical affairs remember her by her stage name of Nellie Butler—Brockton Enterprise.

No Sign Of Dropsy And Kidney Trouble Since Taking "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

HATTIE WARREN

Port Robinson, July 8th, 1915.

"We have used 'Fruit-a-lives' in our house for over three years and have always found them a good medicine. Our little girl, Hattie, was troubled with Kidney Disease. The Doctor said she was threatened with Dropsy. Her limbs and body were all swollen and we began to think she could not live. Finally, we decided to try 'Fruit-a-lives'. She began to show improvement after we had given her a few tablets. In a short time, the swelling had all gone down and her flesh began to look more natural. Now she is the healthiest one in the family and has no signs of the old ailment. We can not say too much for 'Fruit-a-lives' and would never be without them."

the good-natured guy at the box office. For a quarter I say this comes mighty close to being a miracle.

"Your candidate looks up good in the miracle sweepstakes. I'll admit, but if you want to pick the real winner give the picture right across the up and down," remarked his companion.

Three little girls had come in at the usual reduced rate for children—15 cents. One was frail, with wistful eyes, veiled with heavily fringed eyelids. She was modest to shyness, but she plied her knife and fork to good purpose, nevertheless, until her plate was heaped with cabbage, peas, mince, parsnips, potatoes and other things. Then she leaned across the platter, spearing four thick slices of meat.

"It's a landslide," said Allie. "She wins by acclamation. If that little angel isn't putting away 55 cents' worth of tender, even at wholesale prices, I'm no judge of groceries."

Shoulder to Shoulder
Shoulder to shoulder! Each man in his place!
Shoulder to shoulder, and "right about face!"
We're duty to do ere we grow a day older,
And the way we can do is—shoulder to shoulder!
Shoulder to shoulder! Each man in the line!
Shoulder to shoulder! The flag for a sign!
Yes, let us not weaken, but let us grow older,
And rally and rally with—"shoulder to shoulder!"
Shoulder to shoulder! Each man in his might!
Shoulder to shoulder! We fight for the right!
The land of our love—may our courage enfold her!
May we work—and not shrink—for her,
shoulder to shoulder!

LOWELL'S WAR WORK

The local public safety committee will soon hold a meeting to discuss the question of putting to wider and more practical use the war work headquarters at 119 Merrimack street. The quarters were originally intended to serve as a sort of clearing house for the various activities connected with the war. To a certain extent this original mission has been performed, but as the different organizations began to enlarge their work they felt the need of larger accommodations and the result was the quarters in Merrimack street gradually lost track of them.

For instance, the Red Cross society was originally intended to conduct a sort of sub-station in the Merrimack street quarters where a person could get full information concerning the various phases of the work of that organization. But with the unexpected increase in the work of the society and the removal to the Market street rooms the society gradually lost its identity in Merrimack street.

Mr. Otto Hockmeyer, a member of the public safety committee and one of the most enthusiastic war workers in Lowell, stated this afternoon that an attempt will be made in the near future to centralize the war work in Lowell and to have representatives of the various organizations which are connected with this work on hand at the Merrimack street quarters to give information about his or her particular society or organization. It is planned to arrange the quarters so that each organization or society will have a desk and a certain amount of space in which to conduct its work. The main idea behind the scheme is to have Lowell people who wish to do some kind of war work to be able to get any information desired at a centrally located place.

Among the other features planned in connection with the work is the possibility of an honor roll of all the Lowell men who have entered any branch of the national service. If possible an information bureau which will be able to tell relatives just what their fighting men are doing, insofar as military restrictions will allow, will be established.

Mayor O'Donnell will call a meeting of the public safety committee in the near future to discuss the plans for this work.

THE DAY'S NEWS AT CITY HALL

Mayor James E. O'Donnell has written a letter to Lieut. Gov. Calvin Coolidge, who is chairman of the Homestead commission, asking him to give a favorable decision on the matter of the erection of dwellings in this city by the Homestead commission. Under the law although an appropriation was voted by the legislature for the erection of several dwellings under the supervision of the Homestead commission, it is necessary for the commission to receive the approval of the chairman of the finance committee of the governor's council before proceeding with the work.

When the Homestead commission was appointed and given an appropriation its members came to Lowell and selected a tract of land in Hildreth street for an experiment. A couple of weeks ago plans for the buildings to be erected were prepared and bids were called. Now the commission is awaiting the decision of the lieutenant governor before going further with its work. The letter sent by the mayor follows:

Hon. Calvin Coolidge,
U. S. House, Boston, Mass.

Your Honor:
Having been informed that the Homestead commission awaits only your favorable decision to begin the work of constructing dwellings in this city, which are to be purchased by working people, I would respectfully request the commission to give a favorable decision on this proposition in which we are all so deeply interested, thereby permitting the good work to be started.

Lowell is a community of intelligent, industrious and thrifty working people. The ambition of the head of each family is to own his own home. With that end in view all work hard and faithfully and live with strict economy in order to lay aside from their earnings a small sum which forms the nucleus of the fund that eventually is to purchase the home.

Local unions having tickets from Lowell Textile Council are requested to make returns immediately. Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. Annie Reagan will be at Trades & Labor Council office, 32 Middle street, 7 to 9 every evening. From 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon until 9 o'clock.

ROGERS HALL SCHOOL GYMNASIUM SCENE OF SCHOOL'S QUARTER CENTURY CELEBRATION

ROGERS HALL SCHOOL

Rogers Hall school celebrated its quarto-centenary with a formal celebration in its gymnasium last evening. In the remarks last evening, the exercises and another of those high grade programs which are characteristic of the institution gave those present last evening several hours of real happiness.

Last night's gathering was representative of the whole career of Rogers Hall school. Present pupils and past pupils, teachers and past teachers, and persons who had been intimately acquainted with the circumstances surrounding the founding of Rogers Hall all were on hand to provide the cosmopolitan atmosphere necessary for an occasion such as last evening.

The setting of the celebration was all that could be desired. The auditorium was decorated with autumn leaves and the platform was partly hidden from view by a screen of the same foliage. This was timely and appropriate. But far more timely and more appropriate was the far more impressive scene in the gallery of the gymnasium. Here a group of the younger girls of the school were sitting during the program, ready to cheer for the soldiers. Undoubtedly they intended to form no part in the decorative scheme but their appearance was the most significant touch of the entire affair.

Exercises opened shortly after eight o'clock with Mr. George C. Vich at the piano. A waiter by Rachmaninoff and Liszt's sonorous "Gnomon" were his offerings and he treated each number with the individual taste which it required.

Mrs. Laura Littlefield sang two groups of songs which gave her opportunity to display wide versatility. She was accompanied by Mr. Vich on the piano and her program was as follows:

1—Gretry—Arlotte de l'ami de la maison (1771)
Messager—La maison grise
Puccini—Aria, "Son la sospira" from Tosca.

4—Handel—Sylvar, Pretty Rover
Mozart—Lied, "Trio No. 1"
Florence A. Spalding—The Scissors-Man
Foster—One Golden Day

Series of Addresses
A series of addresses then began. Rev. A. C. Ferrin presided in the absence of Rev. John M. Greene, D. D., president of the board of trustees. Professor Charles Forbes of Phillips academy, Andover, was introduced as the principal speaker of the evening and he chose as his subject "Some Educational Reflections." Evidently Professor Forbes is not a somber thinker for his remarks last evening were punctuated constantly by subtle humorisms. This fact seemed to add force to his serious statements and his remarks which were addressed primarily to the teachers, were well received. He told of the delicate task which he himself experienced in managing a group of boys and said that he marveled at the power which enables a teacher to deal successfully with a group of young ladies.

The speaker urged his listeners to impress upon their pupils the necessity of living and doing in the present and not to harp on the glory to be theirs in the future. He said, "Nothing more useful during active years than constant drill in preparing for the future."

In the conclusion of his address he appealed for the continuation of the cultivation of the human mind and soul and asked that the gradually pervading passion for the material should not enter into the lives of those who had exalted aims. He proved himself no pacifist, however, in his closing sentence, "May God save us from all the supphens of soul that would preach peace at the cost of a principle."

A letter from Dr. Greene to Miss Parsons, principal of Rogers Hall, was then read by Mr. Ferrin and it expressed the highest praise for the work which the school was doing.

Miss Parsons then took over the program temporarily and introduced the women speakers. Before doing so, however, she told of some of the aspirations of Rogers Hall. She mentioned Dr. Greene on his ability to influence people of means. Not only had he advised Miss Elizabeth Rogers, the founder and benefactor of the school, to create Rogers Hall, but he had also been instrumental in the founding of Smith college.

Miss Parsons introduced Miss Eastman, registrar of Smith and a trustee of Rogers Hall. The latter said that she had delved into the history of the Lowell school and had found that 40 students had come to Smith from Rogers Hall since the latter school was founded.

Abbot academy was represented by the next speaker, Miss Bailey, principal of the academy. She said that she bore the congratulations of her school to Rogers Hall upon the occasion of its attaining maturity.

Miss Laura A. Knott, principal of Rogers Hall academy, was next introduced and received a warm welcome from down for the third attack in the wake of the submarine. The third depth charge brought up a column of clear water and the fourth depth charge was let go and then followed a widespread boiling up of the surface of the sea, large bubbles and at last a heavy film of oil.

"The destroyer spent some time looking for further traces of the U-boat, but none was found. She then proceeded on her course. The engagement lasted 22 minutes."

"For military reasons the name of the destroyer and the date and the location of the action are withheld. The following account of the engagement was prepared from the complete report received by the navy department."

The American destroyer first sighted the submarine in the early morning of a clear day. The sea was entirely calm with hardly a ripple of foam. The submarine was running submerged with only her periscope showing. A large number of merchant ships were in sight. The U-boat was less than a mile off the north beam of the destroyer and following a parallel course in an opposite direction when the periscope was discovered. It was throwing up a column of water several feet in height so like a nearly spent torpedo that the officer of the deck thought that this was what it was.

"The next instant the destroyer changed course sharply to the left and headed for the U-boat at full speed. At the same time the forward guns opened fire on the periscope. The commanding officer ordered a course steered that would bring the destroyer across the wake of the U-boat a little later to the rear of the periscope."

"As the destroyer dashed across the line of bubbles a depth charge was dropped and a column of clear water shot 30 feet into the air. The destroyer turned to the right swiftly, circling and her starboard guns opened on the periscope as she came around to cross the U-boat's wake again. Again a column of clear water showed that the depth charge had not reached its mark."

"Another quick turn to the right brought the starboard guns to bear, but this time the destroyer turned so sharply that she was able to come

her old friends in Lowell. Bradford had celebrated his centenary 14 years ago and the speaker said that there was, therefore, a wide discrepancy in the ages of the two schools, but not in the general aim. She then made a plea for the need of such schools as Rogers Hall in a country like the United States.

Miss Lucas, principal of the Lincoln school in Providence, had taught in Rogers Hall for six years and was no stranger to last evening's audience. She told of the happiness which her experiences at Rogers Hall had afforded her.

The next speaker was Miss Mabel Hill, now connected with Dana Hall and well known in Lowell. Miss Hill told of the power which the Rogers Hall type of school had over girls at youthful ages and said that the careful school would direct the natural enthusiasm and eagerness of its young women in the very best channels of usefulness.

The School's History
The final speaker was Miss Olive S. Parsons herself. Dr. Ferrin introduced her as a principal who would tell the story of Rogers Hall—"past, present and future."

She said that at the first emergence of Rogers Hall from its chrysalis was 26 years ago, when Mrs. Underhill attempted to create a school for girls in Belvidere. It was only partially successful, however, because no boarders were taken in. A year later Miss Elizabeth Rogers, of 70 years of age, gave up her fine home that Rogers Hall might be established. The school was opened with 13 boarding pupils and 25 day pupils. It was almost negligible because of the failure of Lowell as a city to offer any attraction to outsiders.

The school came into its own eventually, however, and Miss Parsons sketched in detail the rapid progress which it has made in recent years. She then told of the aspirations and aims of her school, and said that her pupils, particularly, to help her in the realization of these ambitions.

Many former pupils of the school—some from distant parts of the country—were present at last evening's affair and a program of entertainment which will extend over today and tomorrow has been arranged. Today a number of athletic events were presented in the gymnasium of the school and also on the grounds without. Suitable entertainment will be provided this evening and tomorrow the visitors and pupils will attend a church service in the morning and at noon luncheon will be served at the country club.

Cordio in Billerica on Sept. 17, was called. Counsel for the defense waived the reading of the complaint, the court found probable cause and the defendant was held in $2500 bonds for his appearance before the superior court. This is the first case where it is alleged that the defendant, owing to jealousy, shot Cordio, while the latter was working in a field in Billerica.

Thomas Kargle, charged with neglect of wife, was given a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction on condition that he turn his pay over to his wife every week.

Serious Assault
Joseph Caseman was charged with assault and battery on David Hasson. Caseman and Hasson were employed at the Tabot mills in Billerica, and on the 24th it is alleged that Hasson, while passing through the wet finishing room of the mill, dropped a roll of a truck; the roll struck Caseman and the latter pulled a wooden plug to which a copper wire was attached out of a tank and struck Hasson over the head, inflicting a cut over the eye and rendering Hasson unconscious. Hasson was removed to a hospital where eight stitches were taken in the wound and remained in the hospital for two weeks, and since that time has been unable to do any work.

The court found the defendant guilty but suspended sentence for one week in order to give the parties in the affair a chance to reach an agreement on civil settlement.

Drunk Offenders
Patrick H. Royal came up on continuance on a complaint charging him with drunkenness. It was his fifth appearance since May and at the recent criminal session of the superior court he pleaded guilty to two alleged cases of drunkenness, a fine of $10 being imposed on each while he was placed on probation on the other. He was given a suspended sentence to the state farm.

Simon Farola was charged with drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. By agreement the case was continued until Nov. 3.

James Grand, charged with drunkenness, was given a suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction and placed on probation for six months.

William Savage, a vagrant, was sentenced to the state farm. Mary Armstrong, drunkenness, was also sentenced to the state farm, but entered on four months in jail sentence and was suspended and she was placed on probation for six months.

WOMAN SUED FOR DIVORCE
ENDED HER LIFT WITH A SHOTGUN
Brewer, Me., Oct. 6.—Despondent over the fact that divorce papers were served upon her yesterday morning, Mrs. Mary Upton, wife of James S. Upton, an express messenger on the Bangor & Vanceboro route, ended her life with a shotgun.

Her eldest daughter came home from school to hear the fatal shot and found her mother dying. "It's all over now, June," she said, and became unconscious.

She leaves, besides her husband, three daughters and a son.

AMERICA GOING TO WIN WAR

Pershing Declares Our Forces Will Carry Cause of Allies to Successful Issue

Replies to Report the War on Western Front Will Result in Stalemate

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Oct. 6.—(By The Associated Press) — (Delayed) — America's fighting men will carry the cause of the entente allies to a successful issue over Germany, Gen. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American forces in France declared today. His statement was in answer to reports that the war on the western front will result in a stalemate.

American newspapers recently arrived in France telling of efforts in certain quarters in the United States to spread the idea that the western front can never be broken or the Germans driven out of France has aroused not only Gen. Pershing but the entire American army. Further resentment has been caused by the information that these reports had been taken up by German newspapers in an attempt to belittle America's effort in the war.

"German propaganda working in America through the agency of our pacifists would spread this idea among our people in order to weaken our initiative," said Gen. Pershing. "Having lost its tactical advantage in the Ypres salient which it enjoyed for more than two years, the German army continues to yield ground before the hammering British assaults. Everywhere on the western front, despite the large number of German troops which the Russian situation has released, Germany is on the defensive and the allies are on the offensive."

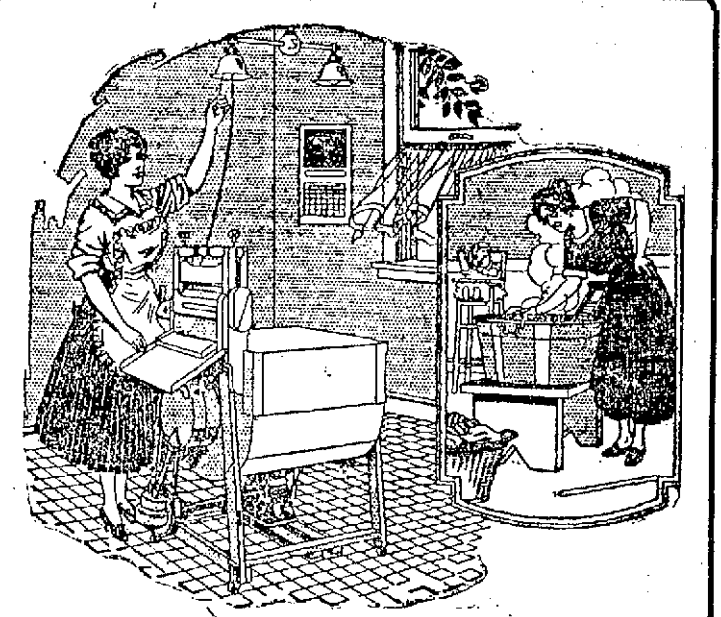

"America has the resources in men and material, once they are prepared, to add the weight which must force a military decision against Germany. Our troops are imbued with the spirit of aggressiveness, a spirit that means we are going to win this war and that we have no idea of allowing ourselves to be influenced by pacifists or enemy propaganda. Neither have we any false notions that victory is going to be an easy matter, but that only makes our determination stronger."

BANK MEN HOLD LIBERTY BOND CONFERENCE

Every bank in Lowell was represented at a conference held this morning at the rooms of the Morris Plan Co., in Shattuck street in connection with the local Liberty bond campaign. The conference was called so that the banks might understand fully the general policy to be followed in the campaign, and N. G. Nickerson, Jr., representing the Federal Reserve bank of Boston, was present to enlighten the gathering on intricate points of the national loan. Several rulings in connection with the bonds which have been handed down by the national committee were explained by him.

It was voted that all the local banks should report daily to the Morris Plan Co. the amount of subscriptions which they had obtained during the day and that the report to Boston should be made from this company.

The campaign is progressing favorably in Lowell. Up until last night, total amount reported was $438,906. Of this $200,500 came in yesterday. The Union National bank was the largest reported having a total of $175,250 as the result of its day's work. Today the Central Savings bank corralled $100,000 which it will report this evening and the Mechanics bank has $50,000 on hand. The Old Lowell will report $300.

Among the large individual subscribers yesterday were the following reported by the Union National bank: Lowell Gas Light Co., $25,000; Arthur G. Pollard, $25,000; Amasa Pratt, $25,000; estate of Jacob Rogers, $25,000; Fred C. Church, $10,000; George S. Motley, $20,000; Frank E. Dunbar, $10,000; John P. Sawyer, $5,000; Mrs. Ida M. Smith, $5,000; Walter L. Chase, $5,000; Hon. J. J. Pickman, $5,000; Chas. A. Brown, $5,000; Dr. A. R. Gardner, $5,000; Congressman John Jacob Rogers, $2,500.

It lodges in city and country in damp, dark cellars; it haunts the low swampy spots on the farm or in the garden. It is often found too late in the clear water of an old cypress well not much used.
There are other malarials than those that attack the bodies that cause an infection of the mind, such as reading bad books, or affect the pocketbooks of purchasers who buy inferior articles because they are put forward as cheap. SHELL CRATERS FILLED
WITH GERMAN BODIES

(By The Associated Press)

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Oct. 5.—(Delayed)—The Germans suffered terribly in the British attack of Thursday and a trip along the battlefield east and north-east of Ypres showed hundreds of bodies of German soldiers among the debris. At many places shell craters were filled with dead men. Here and there were wounded, sometimes under a pile of corpses which the British stretcher-bearers had not been able to reach.

Along one section of the Australian front a thousand bodies were counted. A little further south there was another lot of 700. Some of these had been prisoners who had been making their way back within the British lines when they were caught in their own barrage and killed. One of the British guards who was captured near Polygon wood, said that British shells did terrible havoc among his men.

A British airplane with an Australian pilot had a remarkable experience yesterday. The pilot and observer kept at work despite the clouds and the rain. The Germans fired many shells at the plane but it was finally forced to volplane down behind his own lines. It was found that his machine had been struck so often that it was of no further use. Neither the pilot nor the observer was injured.

Today the pilot asked that he be allowed to go up again. His superior officer, however, thought that he had had enough excitement for the time being and refused permission.

BUSY AT FORGE VILLAGE

The officials of the mills at Forge Village have decided to keep their plants in operation Columbus day. They will be done on account of large orders on hand, but only those desiring to work will do so.

BOSTON BAKERS REPORT INCREASED SALES OF THE DARKER BREADS

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—The state food administration has been informed by the principal bakers of this city that their sales of the darker breads have increased from 60 to 80 per cent in the last two weeks. The food officials consider this a definite indication of the successful result of the appeal to the public to save wheat.

INFANT MORTALITY

According to statistics given out by the board of health, the infant mortality in this city during the months of July, August and September decreased somewhat for the present year, in comparison with the same period in 1916. The total deaths for the three months this year were 284, as compared with 319 for 1916, 348 for 1915 and 447 for 1914. In 1913 the number was 468.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A delightful shower was held last evening at the home of Miss Mary Morgan, 13 Burns street, in honor of Miss Mary McKoon, who is soon to become the bride of Mr. Walter Parsons. A buffet luncheon was served and a musical program was given. The bride-to-be showed in her charming and best wishes. Those responsible for the affair were the Misses Mary Morgan and Adelaide Harnden.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Minnie McNeely last evening at the home of Mrs. Frederick Stowell, 125 Concord street. The house was beautifully decorated with potted plants and flowers. The bride-to-be was draped with pink and green crepe paper. There was a fine musical program carried out during the evening and a buffet luncheon was served. Miss McNeely is a popular young lady of Belvidere and is to become the bride of a popular conductor of the Bay State Street Railway Co. She was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, including a set of linen and cut glass, also silverware. The party broke up at a late hour extending the bride-to-be's best wishes for her future happiness.

BRIDE-TO-BE HONORED

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Kathryn Mahon on Thursday evening at the home of her chum, Molly Higgins. Thinking she was to take part in a farewell reception to one of Uncle Sam's Jackies, Miss Mahon was taken entirely by surprise. Upon entering the living room she was greeted by a shower of flowers and a gift from a large bell attached to the gas jet. Miss Mahon was also the recipient of a handsome gas lamp, a gift of a group of girls over whom she is fondly.

MR. MINORAN HONORED

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn, 534 Central street, in honor of Mr. John J. Minoran, who left for Camp Devens, Ayer, yesterday. He was presented a military shaving set and a gold wrist watch. These were given in and musical selections by Miss Alice Burns and Miss May Flynn. Refreshments were served, Miss Elizabeth Flynn was the accompanist of the evening.

ABRASIONS OF SCALP

William Monahan suffered abrasions of the scalp as a result of a fall on Central street last night. The ambulance called and he was conveyed to St. John's hospital where he received treatment. His condition is not considered serious.

THIS IS NO SURPRISE—SMOKE ALWAYS HAD UPWARD TENDENCY

The local cigar dealers have been busily engaged during the past few days taking account of stock in compliance with the new revenue bill, which includes a tax on cigars, tobacco and manufacturers thereof. Manufacturers and dealers will have to pay a tax of 50 per cent on the stock they have on hand and on cigars and tobacco purchased. The added tax will mean that the prices of cigars will be lowered.

IF YOU SUFFER FROM DYSPEPSIA

Your stomach needs help and just the kind of help Dys-pep-lets give. The prescription should be: A Dys-pep-let or two after eating, and a little rest before and after dinner and supper. A successful physician says so.

Dys-pep-lets are sugar-coated digestive tablets, prompt and pleasant—a peculiar combination of the best digestives, carminatives and correctives. They are giving great satisfaction.

BOY SCOUTS IN LIBERTY BOND CAMPAIGN

The principal activity in Lowell Boy Scout circles at the present time is the distribution of Liberty bond campaign literature and posters throughout the city. This morning over a score of scouts were on the streets distributing placards, posters, etc., and before the campaign is over a total of 10,000 circulars will have been distributed by the local scouts.

In connection with the Liberty bond campaign and its relation to the Boy Scouts the following clever parody on George Colman's popular "Over There" may be of interest:

OVER HERE

Written for the Boy Scouts of America by Oliver Hartford

Johnny get the mon', get the mon',
Help to down the Hun, down the Hun,
Down the Hun, down the Hun,
Money talks, let money shout!
Turn your pockets inside out!
Hurry, buy a bond, buy a bond, buy a bond,
Help them over yond', over yond', over yond',
Let your gold flow in a stream,
Let them hear the Eagle's scream!

(Refrain)

Over here! Give a cheer!
Tell the lads over there not to fear,
That the ranks are swelling, and the scouts are yelling,
And the bonds are selling, over here,
Never fear, never fear,
We are all on the job over here,
Tell the Kaiser he'll be wiser
When he meets the troops we're raising for him here!

Johnny dig the dough, dig the dough,
Dig the dough, dig the dough,
Let your dollars go, don't be slow, let 'em go,
Help to give the Teutons fits,
Put the Kaiser on the fits,
Make the Teutons roar, then some more, then some more!
Help to win the war, win the war,
Win the war, win the war,
Do you hit the bond to float,
Help to get the Kaiser's goat!

(Refrain)

Over here! Give a cheer!
Tell the lads over there not to fear,
That the ranks are swelling, and the scouts are yelling,
And the bonds are selling, over here,
Never fear, never fear,
We are all on the job over here,
Tell the Kaiser he'll be wiser
When he meets the troops we're raising for him here!

The products of the scout farm in Dracut are being harvested at the present time and a record breaking crop of potatoes has resulted. The potatoes are to be sold at the public market through one of the dealers there.

The scouts are looking forward to next Saturday, when the annual rally will be held at Spaulding park. An excellent program of sports and scout-like exhibitions has been arranged and all that is needed to make the day a success is fair weather.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of James A. Garfield Relief Corps was held Thursday night. The evening was spent in song and after supper a social hour was held. Mrs. Elvira Planders presided at the business session and considerable business was transacted. Six new members were admitted. Plans were made and committees appointed for the bazaar, which is to be held on Oct. 27 in the hall of the Worcester street.

Committees on work on the Soldiers' Home and the decorating of graves reported progress. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. James Connelley for her hospitality to her guests at her home on the day of the outing. The corps was closed with six visitors. The meeting closed with the salute to the flag.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of Admiral Farragut camp, Sons of the American Revolution, last night. Commander Fletcher presided and considerable routine business was transacted. Notice was received that the inspection of the camp would take place on Nov. 10 and nomination and election of officers will take place at the next meeting in all vacancies. At the close of the meeting a social hour was held in the banquet hall in charge of S. V. Parker. An interesting program was carried out, closing with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," led by Past Commander Edward W. Deane.

At the regular meeting of Post 185, G.A.U., on Wednesday evening last, S. V. Parker gave a interesting report relating his experiences in the 15th N. H. regiment from his enlistment until after the battle of Fredericksburg, which was very interesting. Following the collection, talks of a similar nature by the comrades will be an attractive feature for the fall and winter meetings, and it is hoped that an increased attendance may result.

FAREWELL PARTY

A very pleasant farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Minoran, 534 Central street, Thursday evening in honor of their son, William, an employee of the Boston & Maine railroad, who responded to the call to Ayer, Mass.

Mr. Minoran was presented a valuable wrist watch and other useful gifts by his fellow employees. The house was artistically decorated, and the national colors, music and refreshments were enjoyed until a late hour when his friends departed wishing him the best of luck. Those who contributed to the monetary program were Miss Mae Conway and Miss Lauretta McKenna. Mr. Frank Curran also entertained with songs and recitations.

REGULAR COMMUNION DAY OF BISHOP DELANY ASSEMBLY, KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Everything is in readiness for the regular communion day of the Bishop Delany assembly, Knights of Columbus, tomorrow morning at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church. The members will meet in the K. of C. rooms not later than 7:30 a. m. and will march to the church. The dress for the occasion will be frock coat, gray tie and gloves, silk hat and baldie without sword. Every member of the order is urged to attend the mass.

LOCAL MACHINISTS TO PARADE AS GRAND FINALE TO RECRUITING CAMPAIGN

A very important meeting of the members of local 138, Machinists' union, was held last evening at 243 Central street with President John Carroll in the chair. In the course of the meeting 115 applications for membership were received, and it was reported that the majority of the local shops had been organized.

It was decided as a grand finale to the recruiting which has been going on in this city for some time that a monster parade be held on a Saturday evening in the city of Lowell.

It is planned to hold a mass meeting at the close of the parade, the speaker of the evening to be William H. Johnston of Washington. A petition was signed and forwarded to the international headquarters asking that President Wilson have an investigation conducted in relation to the trial of Edward K. Neale, Warren K. Billings, Thomas J. Mooney and his wife, Reba Mooney, and Israel Weinberg, who were recently sentenced in San Francisco.

MEN WHO WENT TO AYER YESTERDAY WERE GIVEN GOOD SEND-OFF AT TEWKSBURY

The 69 men who left Tewksbury for Ayer yesterday noon were given a delightful send-off by the residents of the town. The men assembled at the town hall and Captain Grubb, Ed. Neale, and a life and drum corps, they proceeded to the common, where they were given their first drill. Later the soldiers repaired to the country of the Central church, where they were served sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee by the ladies of the church. The men were then marched to the railroad station and while awaiting the train, which was 25 minutes late, the soldiers enjoyed dancing on the platform with their lady friends, music being furnished by the life and drum corps. Patriotic songs were rendered, and when the train rolled in the boys were given the farewell handshakes.

WARREN CLUB HELD THE BOARDS AT ASSOCIATE HALL LAST EVENING

The sixth annual dancing party of the Warren club was held last night in the Associate hall. The evening was a success and was attended by a large number of the members of this popular organization. Music for dancing was furnished by Broderick's orchestra, which was also in charge of the refreshments and the work of the following members of the club:

General manager, Frank Flannery; assistant general manager, Thomas J. Mooney; floor directors, John Joyce and Fred Smith; assistant floor directors, John Welch and Hugh Flannery; chief aid, Franklyn Williams; treasurer, Ed. Barrington.

BRITISH HOLD ALL THEIR GAINS

Continuing effects are observable of the hard blow struck by the British at the German lines in Flanders on Thursday. At some points on the front the Germans have been compelled to retire still further than they were carried by the drive of the British. The positions they occupied were found too greatly exposed to the rain of the British artillery has been pouring upon them.

British patrols discovered this condition of things when they were sent forward to reconnoiter. Along one sector the forward shell hole defenses were found to be abandoned. The British are firmly holding their new line. By last night they were well dug in along the advanced front and ready for any further counter attacks the Germans might launch.

On the French front north of Verdun the crown prince is continuing his persistent effort to win back lost territory from Gen. Petain's troops. An attack north of Jul 344 last night resulted in the Germans gaining a footing in the advanced French line from which they were shortly afterward driven and the line completely re-established.

Germans Fall Back
BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM. Oct. 6.—At some places in the new line established by the British attack in Flanders the Germans were reported to have been exposed positions that they had pulled back their defenses a short distance. British patrols found the forward shell hole defenses in one section abandoned.

Attack on Verdun Front
PARIS, Oct. 6.—The Germans made an attack last night on the Verdun front near Hill 344. They gained a footing in the German line at some points, the war office reports, but later were driven back.

MANSFIELD APPEALS TO LIBERALS

WARPHAM, Oct. 6.—Having carried the campaign slogan "Support the War Government and the War Governor" through all Cape Cod, even to its very tip of Provincetown and its heel at Woods Hole, and pledging himself, if elected, to find out if food prices cannot be lowered, Frederick W. Mansfield, democratic candidate for governor, ended a preliminary two days tour early last evening.

Enthusiasm of his audiences seemed to increase as the tour progressed, and in his final rally here he held an outdoor audience intact in spite of a sharp downpour. He covered 350 miles and gave 22 speeches. In his largest rallies yesterday Mr. Mansfield urged the purchase of Liberty loan bonds. "For," he explained, "the nearer the government can be brought to the people the better the government is. By buying Liberty loan bonds you are showing nothing upon our enemies abroad that we are a united people."

Through Dennisport, Hyannis, Osterville, Falmouth, Woods Hole, Sandwich, Bourne, Onset and Wareham, Mr. Mansfield yesterday hammered home his contention that the war is a domestic issue. He pointed out in the present emergency is to vote for the candidates of his party. He explained the endeavor of the democratic party this year to attract to its standard all people of liberal thought, and argued for the initiative and referendum.

In several speeches he touched upon the food problem in Massachusetts. "A certain percentage of the advance in the cost of necessities is undoubtedly legitimate," said he, "but much of the increase should be due to the unholy greed of profiteers. We must endeavor to say that cold storage houses are filled to the bursting point with millions of pounds of meat, beef, eggs, butter and other food than last year, yet prices are much higher. It is apparent that some one is juggling with these prices."

Charles E. McCall, who gave Gov. McCall power to survey and seize all food, coal, clothing and materials for shelter within the state, and who is now endeavoring to get the legislature to give him the right to regulate selling prices of food and clothing and to seize railroads and other facilities for moving food and coal. Mr. McCall has nothing of that kind at all. I want to know why."

"If I am elected governor and that bill still remains a law, it is at least will endeavor to force it, and I think I can—exactly why food prices are so high in New England, and whether it is true that coal and food barons are making themselves rich at the expense of the public."

Starting from Brewster early yesterday morning, Mr. Mansfield went first to Hyannis, where he saw 180 dramatic men from Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket counties leave for Ayr.

He began his speaking at 8 yesterday morning at West Dennis, and then went to West Dennis. At Hyannis Mr. Mansfield was met by Postmaster J. P. Maher and George L. Thacher, candidate for representative from the district embracing Osterville, Falmouth, Woods Hole, Sandwich and Bourne, and spoke at each place.

Wood O. Luscombe, republican of Woods Hole, was the first who came out to witness the first visit of a candidate for governor to the heel of the Cape.

Postmaster George T. McLaughlin and William N. McCall, the candidate from Sandwich, and Mr. McLaughlin assured Mr. Mansfield that "it takes courage for a democrat to run on Cape Cod."

Charles S. Raleigh, aged 55, a veteran for 35 years, having voted for Franklin Pierce in 1852, met Mr. Mansfield at Bourne, and here about 100 children from the local schools and the high school sat in "barges" and listened to the candidate.

At Onset, Percy Flynn, now a soldier, and two well-known local democrats, Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Flynn were among a good-sized gathering that received Mr. Mansfield's address with applause.

"I feel encouraged by touring the Cape," said Mr. Mansfield on ending his trip last night.

CONNECTICUT QUOTA AT AYER 310 SHORT

CAMP DEVENES, Ayer, Oct. 6.—It became known last night that 318 men from Connecticut would have to come from the Connecticut quota, have not arrived in camp and no explanation of their absence has been received.

Unofficially, it was stated last night that the men have not yet been certified for service in their home state. It is said that 348 men were supposed to have come from Hartford, but only 318 have been certified in that city. The same condition prevails in other cities and towns throughout Connecticut, it is said.

In the second 40 per cent, Connecticut was supposed to send 1391 men. To date only 2673 have arrived. The rest of the quota has not yet been certified. There were no arrivals from the state yesterday. Al. J. Wainwright, assistant chief of staff and officer in charge of receiving the draft, declared last night that if no word is received from the Connecticut officials during the night, he will wire the adjutant general of the state for an explanation today.

ROGERS PROTESTS GIFT OF STATUE OF LINCOLN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Strong protest against the presentation of a statue of Abraham Lincoln by a certain American sculptor to Great Britain by the American Centenary society was made yesterday by Representative Rogers in a speech in the house on the ground, to put it very mildly, that the statue did injustice to Lincoln.

Mr. Rogers said that the presentation of this statue is opposed by Robert T. Lincoln, son of the late president. "Every man who knew Lincoln says it is a libel on him," added Mr. Rogers.

Mr. Rogers expressed belief that it would be a "calamity" to place the statue in front of Westminster abbey, where it has been proposed to erect it.

BOSTON JOURNAL SOLD

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—John Dunbar Wright, a wealthy philanthropist was instantly killed yesterday near Oswego when the automobile he was driving collided with a telephone pole and was overturned. He was crushed under the machine.

Mr. Wright had been connected with the Standard Oil Co. for 28 years until his retirement in 1915.

COAL DEALER TALKS ON
PRICE OF COAL

The story which appeared in The Sun yesterday relative to the purchase of coal by the government for the Lowell postoffice at $4.45 a ton has aroused fresh interest in the high cost of coal and local dealers have today questions to answer.

Discussing the matter today with a representative of The Sun, Mr. Joseph Mullin, one of Lowell's best known coal dealers, said: "The story to the effect that coal had been bought at the mines for $4.45 a ton was sure to arouse much of the discussion that has been going on. Everybody thinks the coal men are getting-rich-quick artists. If there were as much money in the coal business as some might suppose from what he reads or hears, there could be more men in the coal business."

"I hid on the coal for the Lowell postoffice, and I was the lowest bidder. My bid was $2 a ton. I got the contract to unload the coal that the government sent here, and I am more satisfied with the unloading and delivery of the coal than I have been in any other business. The government has been granted the contract to supply the coal. In the first place you had to send a certified check with your bill and you had to wait for a long time before the loading and delivery. You can figure that up and see how much I was going to make on my offer of $2.40 a ton. And even then I would have the chance of having my money returned. I think it is nothing but fair that these facts should be stated, for it would seem that the impression obtains in some quarters that the coal men are making an exorbitant profit."

La Follette Defends His Stand in Bitter Reply to Critics
Congress Adjourns Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The senate at 12:35 p. m., adopted a resolution providing for adjournment of congress at 8 p. m. today.

Wilson Praised Congress
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The work of the congressional session adjourning today was praised by President Wilson in a statement saying:

"The needs of the army and navy have been met in a way that assures the effectiveness of American arms and the war making branch of the government has been abundantly equipped with the powers that were necessary to make the action of the nation effective."

Investigate La Follette's Speech
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Headed by Senator Pomeroy of Ohio the following members of the senate privileges and elections committee were appointed today as the sub-committee to investigate Senator La Follette's speech.

The sub-committee consists of Montana and James of Kentucky, democrats, and Dillingham of Vermont and Hall of New Mexico, republicans. The sub-committee will hold its first meeting Monday.

"The fifth congress, now adjourning," the president added, "deserves the gratitude of the people for the great work which will and purpose I believe it has faithfully expressed. One cannot examine the record of its action without being impressed by its completeness, its courage and its full comprehension of a great task."

"I believe that it has also in equal degree shown as far as possible, in the face of war, safeguarded the rights of the people and kept in mind the consideration of social justice so often obscured in the hasty readjustments of such a crisis."

"It seems to me that the work of this remarkable session has not only been done thoroughly, but that it has also been done with the utmost care and possible in the circumstances or consistent with a full consideration of the exceedingly critical matters dealt with."

Discussing the matter today with a representative of The Sun, Mr. Joseph Mullin, one of Lowell's best known coal dealers, said: "The story to the effect that coal had been bought at the mines for $4.45 a ton was sure to arouse much of the discussion that has been going on. Everybody thinks the coal men are getting-rich-quick artists. If there were as much money in the coal business as some might suppose from what he reads or hears, there could be more men in the coal business."

"I hid on the coal for the Lowell postoffice, and I was the lowest bidder. My bid was $2 a ton. I got the contract to unload the coal that the government sent here, and I am more satisfied with the unloading and delivery of the coal than I have been in any other business. The government has been granted the contract to supply the coal. In the first place you had to send a certified check with your bill and you had to wait for a long time before the loading and delivery. You can figure that up and see how much I was going to make on my offer of $2.40 a ton. And even then I would have the chance of having my money returned. I think it is nothing but fair that these facts should be stated, for it would seem that the impression obtains in some quarters that the coal men are making an exorbitant profit."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The senate at 12:35 p. m., adopted a resolution providing for adjournment of congress at 8 p. m. today.

Wilson Praised Congress
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The work of the congressional session adjourning today was praised by President Wilson in a statement saying:

"The needs of the army and navy have been met in a way that assures the effectiveness of American arms and the war making branch of the government has been abundantly equipped with the powers that were necessary to make the action of the nation effective."

Investigate La Follette's Speech
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Headed by Senator Pomeroy of Ohio the following members of the senate privileges and elections committee were appointed today as the sub-committee to investigate Senator La Follette's speech.

The sub-committee consists of Montana and James of Kentucky, democrats, and Dillingham of Vermont and Hall of New Mexico, republicans. The sub-committee will hold its first meeting Monday.

"The fifth congress, now adjourning," the president added, "deserves the gratitude of the people for the great work which will and purpose I believe it has faithfully expressed. One cannot examine the record of its action without being impressed by its completeness, its courage and its full comprehension of a great task."

"I believe that it has also in equal degree shown as far as possible, in the face of war, safeguarded the rights of the people and kept in mind the consideration of social justice so often obscured in the hasty readjustments of such a crisis."

"It seems to me that the work of this remarkable session has not only been done thoroughly, but that it has also been done with the utmost care and possible in the circumstances or consistent with a full consideration of the exceedingly critical matters dealt with."

Representative Rogers in a speech in the house on the ground, to put it very mildly, that the statue did injustice to Lincoln.

Mr. Rogers said that the presentation of this statue is opposed by Robert T. Lincoln, son of the late president. "Every man who knew Lincoln says it is a libel on him," added Mr. Rogers.

Mr. Rogers expressed belief that it would be a "calamity" to place the statue in front of Westminster abbey, where it has been proposed to erect it.

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The Boston Herald announces this morning the completion of negotiations whereby it takes over the name, circulation, mail lists, good will and physical property of the Boston Journal. The Boston Herald will be issued under the title "The Boston Herald and Boston Journal." It will be published at the present establishment of the Herald on Tremont street.

JOHN DUNBAR WRIGHT
INSTANTLY KILLED

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—John Dunbar Wright, a wealthy philanthropist was instantly killed yesterday near Oswego when the automobile he was driving collided with a telephone pole and was overturned. He was crushed under the machine.

Mr. Wright had been connected with the Standard Oil Co. for 28 years until his retirement in 1915.

COAL DEALER TALKS ON
PRICE OF COAL

The story which appeared in The Sun yesterday relative to the purchase of coal by the government for the Lowell postoffice at $4.45 a ton has aroused fresh interest in the high cost of coal and local dealers have today questions to answer.

Discussing the matter today with a representative of The Sun, Mr. Joseph Mullin, one of Lowell's best known coal dealers, said: "The story to the effect that coal had been bought at the mines for $4.45 a ton was sure to arouse much of the discussion that has been going on. ## SEEN AND HEARD

The foliage was never more beautiful than at present.

Speaking of food conservation, why not cut out the banquet?

You can't always judge a man by the price tag on the garments worn by his better half.

Life in a small town is not all-motors. Twice every year trimmings come from the city to work in the millinery stores.

Very Good Yarn

Senator Smith of Georgia said at an Atlanta luncheon: "German militarism set out to overrun the world. Before the disasters that have befallen it, however, German militarism must now be feeling a good deal like Cal Clay."

"Calhoun Clay of Point Rock was fishing for tarpon in Florida, and he hooked such a big one that it pulled him overboard. As Cal went over the side of the boat and tore through the water in the tarpon's wake, he said: 'Wot Ah want ter know is dis—dis nigger a fishin', or is dis fish a nigger?'"

Girl Soda Clerk in Brockton

The sight of a young lady serving soda in a local drug store caused the comment to be printed the other day in another newspaper that the first woman soda fountain clerk had arrived in Brockton. Hardly correct, they have been employed for some time in a store on Centre street. And the pioneer of them all was a very pretty young lady from Charlestown who served in a drug store at the corner of Main and Crescent streets so many years ago that it would be ungalant to tell the exact date, as the lady still lives. She didn't work at the job very long, and Brockton people were much interested some time later to see her on the stage in a Hoyt farce at the City theatre. The former soda clerk was noted for a fine figure which was freely displayed, and later in life went into heavier dramatic work. The elder readers at least who followed theatrical affairs remember her by her stage name of Nellie Butler.—Brockton Enterprise.

She Paid Only Half Fare

It was a harvest supper that conjured up visions of the cornucopia of plenty. Six or more delicious vegetables, corned beef, crisp rolls, butter, relishes and two kinds of pie were set forth to those at the first table.

"Honest, I'm ashamed to spear another slice of that corned beef," Alice apologized, the while she speared it. "For a dollar and seventy-five, which is about the price of a meal in many places, here they ain't so free with the portions, seven of us ate away."

Two Splendid Things

One is plenty of open-air exercise.

If you can't get all of that you should, it's all the more important that you should have the other tried-and-true remedy for a torpid liver and bowels that don't act freely and naturally.

Take one pill every night, more only when you're sure it's necessary.

HEALTHIEST ONE IN THE FAMILY

No Sign Of Dropsy And Kidney Trouble Since Taking "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

HATTIE WARREN

Port Robinson, July 8th, 1915.

"We have used 'Fruit-a-lives' in our house for over three years and have always found them a good medicine. Our little girl, Hattie, was troubled with Kidney Disease. The Doctor said she was threatened with Dropsy. Her limbs and body were all swollen and we began to think she could not live. Finally, we decided to try 'Fruit-a-lives'. She began to show improvement after we had given her a few tablets. In a short time, the swelling had all gone down and her flesh began to look more natural. Now she is the healthiest one in the family and has no signs of the old ailment. We can not say too much for 'Fruit-a-lives' and would never be without them."

the good-natured guy at the box office. For a quarter I say this comes mighty close to being a miracle.

"Your candidate looks up good in the miracle sweepstakes. I'll admit, but if you want to pick the real winner give the picture right across the top and down," remarked his companion.

Three little girls had come in at the usual reduced rate for children—15 cents. One was frail, with wispy eyes, veiled with heavily fringed eyelids. She was modest to shyness, but she plied her knife and fork to good purpose, nevertheless, until her plate was heaped with cabbage, beets, turnips, parsnips, potatoes and other things. Then she leaned against the platter, spearing four thick slices of meat.

"It's a landslide," said Alice. "She wins by acclamation. If that little angel isn't putting away 55 cents' worth of fodder, even at wholesale prices, I'm no judge of groceries."

Shoulder to shoulder! Each man in his place! Shoulder to shoulder, and 'right about face! We've duty to do ere we grow a day older. And the way we can do it—shoulder to shoulder!

Shoulder to shoulder! Each man in the line! Shoulder to shoulder! The flag for a sign! Yes, let us not weaken, but let us grow bolder. And rally and rally with—"shoulder to shoulder!" Shoulder to shoulder! Each man in his might! Shoulder to shoulder! We fight for the right! The land of our love—may our courage unfold here! May we never—and not shrink—for her, shoulder to shoulder!

LOWELL'S WAR WORK

The local public safety committee will soon hold a meeting to discuss the question of putting to wider and more practical use the war work headquarters at 113 Merrimack street.

The quarters were originally intended to serve as a sort of clearing house for the various activities connected with the war. It is a certain extent this original mission has been performed but as the different organizations began to enlarge their work they felt the need of larger accommodations and the result was the quarters in Merrimack street gradually lost track of them.

For instance, the Red Cross society was originally intended to be a sort of sub-station in the Merrimack street quarters where a person could get full information concerning the various phases of the work of that organization. But with the unexpected increase in the work of the society and the removal to the Market street rooms the society gradually lost its identity in Merrimack street.

Mr. Otto Hopkemyer, a member of the public safety committee and one of the most enthusiastic war workers in Lowell, stated this afternoon that an attempt will be made in the near future to centralize the war work in Lowell and to have representatives of the various organizations which are connected with this work on hand at the Merrimack street quarters to give information about his or her particular society or organization. It is planned to arrange the quarters so that each organization or society will have a desk and a certain amount of space in which to conduct its work. The main idea behind the scheme is to afford Lowell people who wish to do some kind of war work to be able to get any information desired at a centrally located place.

Among the other features planned in connection with the work is the posting of an honor roll of all the Lowell men who have entered any branch of the national service. If possible an information bureau which will be able to tell relatives just what their fighting men are doing, insofar as military restrictions will allow, will be established.

OUR AIRPLANE FLEET

With 20,000 airplanes to co-operate with our armies in the spring in an effort to end the war, it is probable that Germany will keep her planes at home to save Berlin. She will get a taste of the warfare she has been inflicting on London in the vain hope of forcing peace.

EXAMINING PHYSICIANS BLAMED

The examining physicians of the exemption boards appear to have come in for serious blame on account of having sent to Camp Devens men in advanced stages of consumption, cripples, epileptics and other invalids. The army surgeons have sent a large number home but so far as we know none have been returned to Lowell.

RAIDER AT LARGE

Another German raider at large in the Southern Pacific! How these raiders get out may be a puzzle to some. They are captured ships rigged and armed by Germans. These raiders may have a base of supply somewhere on this hemisphere. The merchant submarines may carry out the necessary munitions. Still there is not much ground for alarm from this picked-up raider.

TIGHTENING THE EMBARGO

The Allies in Europe are now tightening the embargo against export to border neutrals from which Germany can receive the cargoes shipped to these neutrals. The Export Board of the United States is now co-operating with the Allies against this indirect export of supplies to Germany. It comes mainly from certain South American countries. Hereafter the United States will refuse bunker coal to the vessels engaged in this business unless they submit their cargoes to inspection. That will hamper some of them very considerably and it will increase the necessities of Germany.

THE BRITISH VICTORY

If the weather holds good in Flanders for another month, the British forces will probably dislodge the Germans from their submarine and aviation bases. General Haig has done remarkably great work during the past few months in beating back the Germans and capturing the most commanding positions in a wide salient of the western front. The ridges captured are of the strategic kind that make future victories more easy. These triumphs, however, have not been won without the most desperate fighting attended with heavy losses. The British losses, it is true, have not been nearly so heavy as those of the enemy. General Haig will undoubtedly make the most of his present advanced position, giving the enemy no chance to regain lost ground, and forcing another strategic Hindenburg retreat.

BUY A LIBERTY BOND

The men and the women who are not subject to military service have a duty to perform fully as important as that of the men who are drafted for service on the battlefield. Their duty is to supply the sinews of war—the guns, the munitions, the ships, the airplanes, the food and the clothing necessary for the maintenance of the war. It requires vast amounts of money to provide all these essentials. The government has no money for these purposes except what it gets from the people through taxation and loans authorized by congress. The people of this nation are now called upon for the second Liberty Loan. The sum of $3,000,000,000 is asked from the American people at the very respectable rate of 4 per cent. There should be no hesitation in advancing this amount. The rate of interest is as high as paid by the savings banks and the security is the best in the world. There is no sacrifice here. Rather is it a splendid opportunity to invest money where it will be absolutely safe. Considering the purpose and the imperative necessity, every citizen who has the money and who has a spark of patriotism in his make up will buy a Liberty Bond.

OUR COTTON MILLS

If the cotton mills of Lawrence are able to give an increase in wages at this time, no doubt the operatives of the local cotton mills will begin to inquire "when does our turn come." So far as can be learned, the business in all the cotton mills of this city has been very satisfactory during the past few months. Some government work has been secured, but apart from this the season has been fairly prosperous. Nevertheless there have been a great many handicaps. The peace talk that has been in the air of late has rendered the future uncertain so that the cotton mills were unable to plan ahead with the degree of confidence that would otherwise prevail.

THE DAY'S NEWS AT CITY HALL

Mayor James E. O'Donnell has written a letter to Lieut. Gov. Calvin Coolidge, who is chairman of the finance committee of the governor's council, asking him to give a favorable decision on the matter of the erection of dwellings in this city by the Homestead commission. Under the law although an appropriation was voted by the legislature for the erection of several dwellings under the supervision of the Homestead commission, it is necessary for the commission to receive the approval of the chairman of the finance committee of the governor's council before proceeding with the work.

When the Homestead commission was appointed and given an appropriation its members came to Lowell and selected a tract of land in Hildreth street for an experiment. A couple of weeks ago plans for the buildings to be erected were prepared and bids were called. Now the commission awaits the decision of the chairman of the finance committee of the governor's council before proceeding with the work. The letter sent by the mayor follows:

October 6, 1917.
Hon. Calvin Coolidge,
Lieut. Gov. of Massachusetts, State House, Boston, Mass.

Your Honor:
Having been informed that the Homestead commission awaits only your favorable decision to begin the erection of dwellings in this city, which are to be purchased by working people, I would respectfully request you to give the desired consideration to this proposition in which we are all so deeply interested, thereby permitting the good work to be started.

Lowell is a community of intelligent, industrious and thrifty working people. The ambition of the head of every family down to the humblest is to have their own home. With that end in view all work hard and faithfully and live with strict economy in order to lay aside from their earnings a small excess, which forms the nucleus of the fund that eventually is to purchase the home.

ROGERS HALL SCHOOL GYMNASIUM SCENE OF SCHOOL'S QUARTER CENTURY CELEBRATION

ROGERS HALL SCHOOL

Rogers Hall school celebrated its quarter-centenary with a formal celebration in its gymnasium last evening. Inclement weather failed to detract from the pleasure—or profit—of the exercises and another of those high grade programs which are characteristic of the institution gave those present last evening several hours of real happiness.

Last night's gathering was representative of the whole career of Rogers Hall school. Present pupils and past pupils, present teachers and past teachers and persons who had been intimately acquainted with the circumstances surrounding the founding of Rogers Hall all were on hand to provide the cosmopolitan atmosphere necessary for an occasion such as last evening.

The setting of the celebration was all that could be desired. The auditorium was decorated with autumn leaves and the platform was partly hidden from view by a screen of the same foliage. This was timely and appropriate. But far more impressive was the scene in the gallery of the gymnasium. Here a group of the younger girls of the school were sitting during the program and knitting for the soldiers. Undoubtedly they intended to form no part in the decorative scheme but their touch of the entire affair.

The exercises opened shortly after eight o'clock with Mr. George Vich, president of the board of trustees, in the chair. The program was a most impressive one. The exercises were his offerings and he treated each number with the individual taste which he required.

Mrs. Laura Littlefield sang two groups of songs which gave her opportunity to display wide versatility. She was accompanied by Mr. Vich on the piano and her program was as follows:

—Gretry—Ariette de l'ami de la maison (1771)
—Mozart—La maison grise
—Puccini—Aria, "Son la sospira" from Tosca.
—Handel—Skyline, Pretty Rover
—Margaret Lang—Triste Noel
—Florence A. Spalding—The Scissors-Man
—Poster—One Golden Day

Series of Addresses
A series of addresses then began. Rev. A. C. Ferrin presided in the absence of Rev. John A. Greene, president of the board of trustees. Professor Charles Forbes of Phillips academy, Andover, was introduced as the principal speaker of the evening and he chose as his subject "Some Educational Reflections." Evidently Professor Forbes is not a somber thinker for his remarks last evening were punctuated constantly by subtle humorisms. This fact seemed to add force to his serious statements and his remarks, which were addressed primarily to the teachers, were well received. He told of the delicate task which he himself experienced in managing a group of boys and said that he marveled at the power which enables a teacher to deal successfully with a group of young ladies.

The speaker urged his listeners to impress upon their pupils the necessity of living and doing in the present and not to hark on the glory to be theirs in the future. He said: "Nothing is more dulling to active spirits than constant drill in preparing for the future."

In the conclusion of his address he touched upon the war theme. He appealed for the continuation of the cultivation of the human mind and the pervading passion for war be not allowed to enter into the lives of those who had exalted aims. He proved himself no pacifist, however, in his closing sentence: "May God save us from all the supineness of soul that would preach peace at the cost of a principle."

Miss Parsons, principal of Rogers Hall, was then read by Mr. Ferrin and it expressed the highest praise for the work which the school was doing. Miss Parsons then took over the program temporarily and introduced the women speakers. Before doing so, however, she told of some of the aspirations of Rogers Hall. She complimented Dr. Greene on his ability to influence people of means. Not only had he advised Miss Elizabeth Rogers, the founder and benefactor of the school, to create Rogers Hall, but he had also been instrumental in the founding of Smith college.

Miss Parsons introduced Miss Eastman, registrar of Smith and a trustee of Rogers Hall. The latter said that she had delved into the history of the school and had found that 40 students had come to Smith from Rogers Hall since the latter school was founded.

Abbot academy was represented by the next speaker, Miss Bailey, principal of the academy. She said that she bore the congratulations of her school to Rogers Hall upon the occasion of its attaining maturity. Miss Knott, principal of Bradford academy, was next introduced and received a warm welcome from her old friends in Lowell. Bradford had celebrated its centenary 14 years ago and the speaker said that there was therefore a wide discrepancy in the ages of the two schools, but not in the general aims. She then made a plea for the need of such schools as Rogers Hall in a country like the United States.

Miss Lucas, principal of the Lincoln school in Providence, had taught in Rogers Hall for six years and was no stranger to last evening's audience. She told of the happiness which her experiences at Rogers Hall had afforded her.

The next speaker was Miss Mabel Hill, now connected with Dana Hall and well known in Lowell. Miss Hill told of the power which the Rogers Hall type of school had over girls at youthful ages and said that the careful thought and earnestness of its young women in the very best channels of usefulness.

The School's History
The final speaker was Miss Olive S. Parsons herself. Mr. Ferrin introduced her as a principal who would tell the story of Rogers Hall—"past, present and future."

She said that the first emergence of Rogers Hall from its chrysalis was 26 years ago, when Mrs. Frederick Atwell, a widow, created a school for girls in Belvidere. It was only partially successful, however, because no boarders were taken in. A year later Miss Elizabeth Rogers, at 70 years of age, gave up her fine home that Rogers Hall might be established. The school opened with 13 boarding pupils and 25 day pupils. At first the progress was almost negligible because of the failure of Lowell as a city to offer any attraction to outsiders.

The school came into its own eventually, however, and Miss Parsons sketched in detail the rapid progress which it has made in recent years. She then told of the aspirations and aims of her school and urged her present pupils, particularly, to help in the realization of these ambitions.

Many former pupils of the school—some from distant parts of the country—were present at last evening's affair and a program of entertainment which will extend over today and tomorrow has been arranged. Today a number of athletic events were staged in the gymnasium of the school and also on the grounds without. Suitable entertainment will be provided for the evening and tomorrow the visitors and pupils will attend St. Anne's church in the morning and at noon luncheon will be served at the country club.

Drunkard Charged with Assault
Joseph Caseman was charged with assault and battery on David Hasson. Caseman and Hasson were employed at the Talbot mills in Billerica, and on Aug. 26th it is alleged that Hasson, while passing through the wet finishing room of the mill, dropped a roll of a truck, the roll struck Caseman and the latter pulled a wooden plug to which a copper wire was attached out of a tank and struck Hasson over the head, inflicting a cut over the eye and rendering Hasson unconscious. Hasson was removed to a hospital, where eight stitches were taken in the wound and remained in the hospital for two weeks, and since that time has been unable to do any work.

Serious Assault
The court found the defendant guilty but suspended sentence for one week in order to give the parties in the affair a chance to reach an agreement on civil settlement.

Drunkard Offenders
Patrick H. Royal came up on continuation on a complaint charging him with drunkenness. It was his fifth appearance since May and at the recent criminal session of the superior court he pleaded guilty to two appearances of drunkenness, a fine of $10 being imposed on one, while he was placed on probation on the other. He was given a suspended sentence to the state farm.

Simon Parola was charged with drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. By agreement the case was continued until Nov. 2.

James Grand, charged with drunkenness, was given a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction and placed on probation for six months.

William Savage, a vagrant, was sentenced to the state farm. Mary Ann Strong, a drug addict, was also sentenced to the state farm, but entered an appeal. Mary Comer was sentenced to four months in jail, sentence was suspended and she was placed on probation for six months.

WOMAN SUED FOR DIVORCE
ENDED HER LIFT WITH A SHOTGUN
BREWSTER, Me., Oct. 6.—Despondent over the fact that divorce papers were served upon her yesterday morning, Mrs. Mary Epton, wife of James S. Epton, an express messenger on the Bangor & Vangor route, ended her life with a shotgun.

Her eldest daughter came home from school to hear the fatal shot and found her mother dying. "It's all over now, June," she said, and became unconscious.

She leaves, besides her husband, three daughters and a son.

AMERICA GOING TO WIN WAR

Pershing Declares Our Forces Will Carry Cause of Allies to Successful Issue

Replies to Report the War on Western Front Will Result in Stalemate

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Oct. 5.—(By The Associated Press).—(Delayed).—America's fighting men will carry the cause of the entente allies to a successful issue over Germany, Gen. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American forces in France declared today. His statement was in answer to reports that the war on the western front will result in a stalemate.

American newspapers recently arrived in France telling of efforts in certain quarters in the United States to spread the idea that the western front can never be broken or the Germans driven out of France has aroused not only Gen. Pershing but the entire American army. Further resentment has been caused by the information that these reports had been taken up by German newspapers in an attempt to belittle America's effort in the war.

"German propaganda working in America through the agency of our newspapers would spread this idea among our people in order to weaken our initiative," said Gen. Pershing. "Having lost its tactical advantage in the Ypres salient which it enjoyed for more than two years, the German army continues to yield ground before the hammering British assaults. Everywhere on the western front, despite the large number of German troops which the Russian situation has released Germany is on the defensive and the allies are on the offensive."

"America has the resources in men and material, once they are prepared, to add the weight which must force a military decision against Germany. Our troops are imbued with a spirit of aggressiveness, a spirit that means we are going to win this war and that we have no idea of allowing ourselves to be influenced by pacifists or enemy propaganda. Neither have we any false notions that victory is going to be an easy matter, but that only makes our determination stronger."

"Every man from top to bottom has entered this war imbued with the fighting spirit, which means that the cause of the allies will be carried to a successful issue."

FIND HEFLIN'S CHARGE SUBJECT TO CRITICISM

DESTROYER SINKS U-BOAT

ment was made in the following statement:

"The secretary of the navy authorizes the publication of this account of an engagement between an American destroyer and an enemy submarine. This is one of a number of encounters of a more or less similar nature, the details of which have been made public in this manner, as soon as possible.

"(A feature of interest attaches to this engagement, because it was the occasion for a letter of appreciation from the British admiralty which expressed admiration for the efficiency and seamanlike conduct of the officers and crew of the American destroyer.)

"The American destroyer first sighted the submarine in the early morning of a clear day. The sea was entirely calm with hardly a ripple of foam. The submarine was running submerged with only her periscope showing. A large number of merchant ships were in sight. The U-boat was less than a mile off the port beam of the destroyer and following a parallel course in an opposite direction when the periscope was discovered. It was throwing up a column of water several feet in height so like a nearly spent torpedo that the officers of the deck thought that this was what it was.

"The next instant the destroyer changed course sharply to the left and headed for the U-boat at full speed. At the same time the forward guns opened fire on the periscope. The commanding officer ordered the course steered that would bring the destroyer across the wake of the U-boat a little later to the rear of the periscope.

"As the destroyer dashed across the line of bubbles a depth charge was dropped and a column of clear water shot 30 feet into the air. The destroyer turned to the right swiftly striking and her starboard guns opened fire on the periscope as she came around to cross the U-boat's wake. Again a column of clear water showed that the depth charge had not reached its mark.

"Another quick turn to the right brought the starboard guns to bear, but this time the destroyer turned so sharply that she was able to come

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Charles A. Chambers, Charles E. Mitchell and William Strauss, all claiming South Boston as their home, were arrested in Middlesex street, near the Boston & Maine depot, about 6:30 o'clock last night by Patrolman Cornelius P. Sullivan, subsequent to a battle which occurred and in which two of the members of the party were killed.

Chambers, Mitchell, Strauss and another man, came down from the restaurant at 177½ State street, after were arrested in Middlesex street, near the Boston & Maine depot, about 6:30 o'clock last night by Patrolman Cornelius P.
